

Cambodia Falls To Communists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Phnom Penh capitulated to the Khmer Rouge insurgents today after a 3½-month siege, ending five years of war that devastated Cambodia, caused uncounted casualties and disrupted the lives of its 7 million people.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ousted five years ago as Cambodia's chief of state and titular head of the Khmer Rouge government-in-exile in Peking, indicated that he did not plan to return in the near future.

Tanjung, the official Yugoslav news agency, reported a statement from the prince in which he said while he remains Cambodia's chief of state, 45-year-old Khieu Samphan, his deputy premier and chief commander of the "Armed Force of National Unity in Cambodia" would execute direct power in the country along with the Khmer Rouge.

Sihanouk said he would continue to represent Cambodia abroad and would guarantee "Cambodian policies of nonalignment."

Meanwhile, the commander of the Khmer Rouge forces in the Phnom Penh area, Gen. Hem Ket Dara, established his headquarters in the Information Ministry building in the Cambodian capital.

A Khmer Rouge spokesman, speaking over Radio Phnom Penh, said the Communist-led insurgents took over the Cambodian capital at 9 a.m. Thursday (10 p.m. EDT Wednesday). Another broadcast said several leaders of the regime President Lon Nol left behind, including his brother and chief adviser, Brig. Gen. Lon Non, were meeting with the Khmer Rouge at the Information Ministry building.

A number of others sought refuge in the Hotel Le Phnom, which the International Red Cross declared a security zone for noncombatants. This group included Gen. Sirik Matak, one of the leaders of the coup that overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk in 1970 and once Lon Nol's closest associate.

Cambodian newsmen in Phnom Penh reported to The Associated Press that white flags blossomed on buildings in the downtown part of the city, crowds on the streets greeted the incoming insurgent troops, and the Khmer Rouge embraced soldiers of the Cambodian army.

Army vehicles toured the streets with loudspeakers, telling the people to put out white flags. Officers in the cars said they had orders from the army headquarters.

There was also sporadic shooting downtown, but it came from Khmer Rouge troops firing jubilantly into the air as they walked in small groups, surrounded by cheering townspeople.

In South Vietnam, the other Indochina theater of war, the Saigon command reported that fighting tapered off across the country. The situation was reported "quiet" at Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon, after a week of hard fighting.

The remnants of Lon Nol's regime offered a cease-fire and transfer of power on Wednesday. But Prince Sihanouk, the former chief of state who now heads an exile government in Peking, rejected the offer and told them to "lay down their arms, raise the white flag and surrender."

Sihanouk said his foes in Phnom Penh were "traitors who deserve hanging and should try and escape while they can."

Premier Long Boret's government gave up after the Khmer Rouge captured the Phnom Penh airport on Wednesday, moved its artillery into range of the center of the capital and began fighting its way into the city from three sides.

Residents on the west side of the city, toward the airport, reported their sector was shelled this morning as the insurgents were being welcomed into the city from the north. Ten persons were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Fighting also was reported Wednesday at Battambang, Cambodia's second largest city 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, and at Svay Rieng, 70 miles southeast of Phnom Penh near the South Vietnamese border. But the Cambodian army's resistance in the few pockets of territory it still held was expected to end as soon as word of the surrender of Phnom Penh got around.

There was no official reaction in Washington to the collapse of the Cambodian resistance to the Communists. But the U.S. government and Congress wrote Cambodia off last week, and the chief focus of attention in the American capital was on South Vietnam.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee received a report from two members of its staff that U.S. intelligence officials agree "only decisive military action by the United States" could save the South Vietnamese government. Informed sources said the evacuation of Americans from Saigon is "dangerously overdue," but U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin, one of the chief supporters of President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime, is "actively" resisting the withdrawal of Americans.

President Ford said Wednesday that he is "absolutely convinced" that the South Vietnamese forces can stabilize their defenses if Congress quickly approves his request for $722 million in military aid to Saigon. The Senate Foreign Relations committee was to vote today on a compromise to provide $200 million, but the White House rejected this.

The Geneva headquarters of the International Red Cross Committee reported that more than 2,000 sick and wounded persons had taken shelter in the organization's security zone in Phnom Penh. It said a message from its representatives there reported both the Khmer Rouge and the Cambodian army were respecting the neutral zone.

Australia was the first government to announce formal recognition of Prince Sihanouk's government in Peking following the collapse of the regime in Phnom Penh.

The Thai government called a meeting in Bangkok of the ambassadors from the other four members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations to consider the recognition question. The other ASEAN countries are Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and the Philippines, and a Thai spokesman said they had agreed they would recognize only the government in "effective control" in Phnom Penh.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo blamed the loss of Cambodia to the Communists on "the lack of will on the part of the Khmer defenders" and the "termination of (U.S.) assistance."

U.S. Took Fateful Cambodian Step With '70 Incursion

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

For the United States, Cambodia wasn't planned. It just happened, without formal alliance or agreement.

The fateful step was taken almost exactly five years ago with a combined American-South Vietnamese invasion that the Nixon administration called an "incursion." From then on it was all downhill. Phnom Penh surrendered Thursday.

The American military involvement in the three Indochina states was supposed to end in 1973. The last vestige of it was supposed to be in Cambodia where, at the order of Congress, the bombing halted that August. But the political, economic and ideological entanglements remained, and now Cambodia's fate can alter the whole Indochina picture.

How did this situation develop into what it is now?

American involvement really began right after World War II with aid to the French as they sought to re-establish their colonial authority. Washington had regarded Southeast Asia as strategically vital to American security, and even more so after the Communists swept over China. Washington saw communism as a Soviet-dominated monolith about to knock over nations like so many dominoes.

Communist Ho Chi Minh's Viet Minh by 1954 drove the French out and assumed authority over North Vietnam, and the United States stepped into the vacuum in the South.

Cambodia had won independence in 1953 under Norodom Sihanouk, then called king, but the ancient Buddhist kingdom that called itself Kampuchea was unlucky in its geography, caught between two mighty world blocs in a political struggle.

Hanoi sought to use a Vietnamese minority to impose its domination on Cambodia, and the antiroyal, anti-Communist Khmer Issarak (Free Khmer) movement also opposed him. But Sihanouk, then in his 30s, was popular, despite a playboy image, and prevailed, probably because many Cambodians considered him the only honest man in high office.

Prince Norodom — he retained the hereditary title after making himself chief of state in 1960 — could have claimed a title as the world's most dedicated neutralist, but the world wouldn't let him stay that way.

American troubles with Sihanouk began accumulating in 1965 after the major war escalation in South Vietnam. The cause was the sanctuary enjoyed by Communist-led Viet Cong on Cambodian territory.

Sihanouk, who had already renounced American economic aid, broke relations with Washington, charging repeated violations by American planes.

Sihanouk pictured himself as caught between two forces.

On one hand were the Khmer Rouges, mainly Cambodian Communists, who the prince said "sold their bodies and souls to China." The Khmer Rouge had a Politburo, support from China and protection from North Vietnamese regulars camped in Cambodia. It developed slowly into a fighting organization on its own, but was a shadowy force, difficult to identify. Its outstanding leader is Khieu Samphan.

The other force Sihanouk called "Khmer Blues," or those elements,

Solon Wants To Curtail 'Carnival Like' Lottery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "No self respecting gambler would buy a lottery ticket," says Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, who wants to put a damper on the lottery commission's "carnival like" operations.

He introduced Wednesday a measure that would require that the odds against winning "thirty million to one for the top ($1 million) prize" be printed on lottery tickets. "The people need to know what a lousy deal they are getting," Norris said.

In addition, his bill would permit voters to decide at local option elections whether to permit ticket sales in their neighborhood the same as a wet-dry liquor election. "There are parents and nice neighborhoods who voted against the lottery. They have moral objections...the lottery is almost a perfect analogy to the liquor situation," the veteran Franklin County lawmaker asserted.

Among other measures introduced in the House Wednesday was a $645 million capital improvements appropriations bill—with one exception the same list of projects contained in Gov. James A. Rhodes' sidetracked, two year appropriations bill.

Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, added one new item that provides $11 million for a long sought lodge at Deer Creek State Park in Pickaway County. He said money for the facility is available from unsold parks and recreation facility bonds already authorized by the legislature.

The capital improvements bill would be financed with reappropriation and self-retiring revenue bonds previously authorized. Major outlays include $219 million for mental health facilities and $309 million for higher education or through the sale of self-retiring revenue bonds already authorized by the legislature.

The capital improvements and lottery proposals were among 11 measures introduced Wednesday in the House, while the Senate received three new measures.

Other House bills would require the state to shift from two-year to annual budgets, bestow awards on state employees making contributions to government efficiency, and make owners of firearms responsible for their use by children.

Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland, also offered in the House a measure that would require minors who commit crimes with firearms to be punished in the same manner as adults.

Representatives received and adopted a resolution honoring James M. Wagoner of Lancaster, national commander of the American Legion who visited both chambers as a guest of the legislature.

New Senate bills would remove limits on compensation for municipal court clerks, establish an Ohio land use review committee, and require hearings on rates and contract proposals by hospital service associations.

Food Day Activities Being Held

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumer groups, college students and charitable organizations banded together today for a nationwide Food Day drive against hunger and malnutrition.

Activities ranged from fasting to farm sales and some of the programs prompted controversy even before they got under way.

Everyone agreed that there are problems. But they couldn't agree on the nature of the problems and how to solve them. Some Food Day participants concentrated on hunger in developing nations; others were concerned with high prices; still others campaigned against junk foods and lack of nutrition in the American diet.

The idea of Food Day came from the Center for Science in the Public Interest, a Washington-based group founded by followers of Ralph Nader.

It was supported by groups like the Consumer Federation of America and Oxfam-America, organizer of last November's one-day fast to focus attention on the world food crisis. Several nutrition experts and congressmen also joined the list of Food Day sponsors.

At least two of the nutritionists, Drs. Jean Mayer and Frederick J. Stare, both of Harvard University, have since withdrawn their support. They criticized a center list of the "Terrible Ten" foods that allegedly represent items lacking in nutrition and, in some cases, are harmful. The two professors also take issue with some Food Day promotions that criticize chemical fertilizers and give the impression that small, organic farms are the answer to the food problem.

lifestyles. This is the same conclusion reached by Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb.

The council's report contained new estimates appearing to promise adequate electric power for the next decade — but only if the U.S. economy and its energy demand remain depressed.

Economic recovery, without a reversal of the trend to cut back power plant construction, would bring the threat of brownouts and blackouts everywhere except in the western states, the report indicated.

The entire southern tier of states and the East Coast could see their safety margin of reserve generating capacity virtually disappear, just about guaranteeing serious problems, the report showed.

In north central states, reserve capacity might be marginally adequate but too low for comfort, it said.

In most regions, power shortages could be avoided if powerplant construction improves or if the economy does not improve, the report showed.

But one region — Illinois, eastern Wisconsin and the northeastern half of Missouri — seemed headed for a tight power supply no matter what, indicating that at best the area may have to rely on help from other areas through interconnecting power lines.

Zarb, answering questions at a Wednesday meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), said he was receiving indications "that at our current rate, given a reasonable (economic) recovery, over the next five years we can be in a power-shortage position."

He later told The Associated Press he was worried that it might become necessary in the early 1980s to ration electric power "to certain industrial users to keep the local population living."

Other FEA officials said the agency's trouble-warnings were coming from members of state utility commissions.

Commissioners, Board Of Health Establish Sight Saving Program

A Sight Saver Fund on behalf of the needy children of Pickaway County, to be managed and administered by the Pickaway County Board of Health, has been established and licensed by Pickaway County Commissioners Dick Tootle, Robert Liston, and Donald Strous.

The Board of Health suggested the Sight Saver program to Commissioners after the Health Department discovered a high incidence of children in the county and city in need of corrective eye glasses.

The fund will be utilized and specifically restricted to purchase of eye glasses and other vision-saving devices for the indigent or deficient children of the county and city.

The license to establish the fund was granted by the Commissioners to provide a central source of monies for the project.

Voluntary contributions from private citizens and civic organizations will provide the source of fund revenue. Contributions may be made to the Board of Health at any time.

The department currently has a waiting list of 16 children in need of glasses. They will be fitted with corrective lenses as soon as money is available.

Children in need of glasses are brought to the attention of the Health Department by vision screening programs conducted in all city and county schools.

Health department personnel screen prospective recipients to determine their actual financial need.

The average pair of eye glasses for children costs approximately $35.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for cheaper money and a strengthening economy carried the stock market to another broad gain in heavy trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.66 at 823.73, and gainers held a 3-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted general anticipation of a further easing in credit conditions. On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .75 to 83.86.

NYSE volume had reached 15.34 million shares after the first two hours. If that pace continued, the market stood an excellent chance of turning in its seventh 30 million-share day of the year.

The record of 35.16 million was set Feb. 13.

The NYSE's composite index was up .50 at 46.34.

GNP Drops At Record Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The gross national product, the broadest measure of the nation's economic performance, declined at a record rate in the first quarter of the year, government statistics are expected to show.

James L. Pate, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, is predicting that the GNP declined at more than a 10 per cent annual rate in the January-March period. Other administration sources say the decline could be closer to 12 per cent.

The Commerce Department is scheduled to release its first-quarter report on GNP this afternoon.

Either way, the decline would be the worst since the Commerce Department began keeping quarterly records on the GNP in 1947, and it was clear evidence of the depth of the nation's current recession.

The previous worst quarterly drop was a 9.2 per cent rate of decline in the first three months of 1958. The GNP fell at a 9 per cent rate in the fourth quarter of last year and was down 2.2 per cent for the year.

The GNP measures the total output of goods and services in the economy both in constant dollars and in current dollars. As such, the GNP also measures the inflation rate, and Pate said this index was expected to be much improved over the 14.4 per cent inflation rate of the fourth quarter of last year.

Government economists say the first-quarter economic performance was the worst of the current recession and that the economy will begin the slow process of improvement by mid-year.

As evidence, they cite a big decrease in business inventories in February, a slowdown in the steep decline in industrial output in March and the best indications yet that the housing industry is approaching a turn-around point.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday that U.S. factories operated at just over 68.3 per cent of capacity during the first three months of the year. That level for all manufacturing was the lowest since the Fed began keeping such statistics in 1948.

Meanwhile, there were these other economic developments:

—President Ford named a fact-finding board to investigate a dispute

President Delays Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has delayed for 60 days a threatened strike against the nation's railroads by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

The 250,000-member union voted to walk out at 12:01 a.m. Friday, but Ford invoked emergency procedures under the Railway Labor Act to allow union and management negotiators additional time to resolve their contract dispute.

Declaring the matter a national emergency, the President appointed a three-member fact-finding board Wednesday to investigate the dispute for up to 30 days. The board's finding will be taken back to the negotiators, who will then have another 30 days to reach an agreement.

The union will be legally free to strike after the 60-day period.

Union President C. L. Dennis said he was gratified by Ford's action and that the union was prepared to present its case to the board as soon as hearings are arranged.

Ford said he acted on the recommendation of the National Mediation Board, which decided that a railroad strike "threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive a section of the country of essential transportation service."

Named to head the board was Alexander B. Porter of Washington, an attorney and labor arbitrator. Serving with him will be James M. Harkless, also from Washington and an experienced arbitrator, and the Rev. Francis X. Quinn, also an arbitrator and faculty member of the Temple University School of Business Administration.

Dennis announced earlier this week that his union members voted overwhelmingly to strike after talks with the National Railway Labor Conference, the industry's bargaining arm, failed to produce a settlement.

Seven other railway unions accepted a new three-year contract earlier this year, but Dennis said his members "won't settle for an inadequate or sub-standard agreement simply because other unions found it satisfactory for their members."

The contract provided for a 41 per cent boost in wages and benefits.

Agency Assumes Futures Jurisdiction

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal agency will officially assume jurisdiction over commodity futures trading next week, but its newly sworn-in chief says he plans no sudden moves.

William T. Bagley, chairman of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, said Wednesday the agency will take over duties on April 21 in a "positively neutral position" and that trading in commodities is expected to continue with minimum disturbance during the transition.

The commission, set up by Congress in an overhaul of commodity futures trading last year, will succeed the Commodity Exchange Authority in the Agriculture Department. For many years the CEA had the job of enforcing federal regulations on trading of certain farm commodities.

Under the new law a number of commodities — agricultural and others such as gold and silver — will be brought under federal regulation for the first time.

The commission, divorced from USDA and set up as an independent unit of the government, is supposed to have five members. Four, including Bagley, were sworn in late Tuesday at the White House. Bagley said a fifth member was expected to be named soon.

Congress, in another bill awaiting President Ford's signature, gave the commission up to 90 additional days

Ford To Visit Offshore Oil Rig

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Ford will be taken by helicopter to inspect an offshore oil rig during his visit to New Orleans on April 23, according to Rep. F. Edward Hebert's office.

Hebert's office said Wednesday that the presidential visit now includes a morning ground-breaking ceremony, a luncheon speech, a press conference and the flight to the offshore rig.

Another speech, at Tulane University, is tentatively scheduled that night.

that threatened a nationwide rail strike Friday by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks. The action automatically postpones a strike for 60 days.

—Ford disclosed at a news conference he has asked Treasury Secretary William E. Simon to stay on the job and that Simon has agreed. There have been recurring rumors here Simon might be on his way out because of his objections to the large budget deficits that Ford has proposed and to the tax-cut bill Ford approved.

—The Commerce Department said the decline in the housing industry slowed in March. Housing starts were reported at an annual rate of 980,000 and building permits at a rate of 710,000, which were only slightly below February's figures.

—Personal income of Americans increased $1.2 billion at an annual rate, compared with a rate of increase of $2.3 billion in February. The slowdown appeared due to a smaller growth in federal transfer payments.

Viet Situation 'Irretrievable' Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret congressional report assesses the South Vietnamese military situation as "irretrievable" and accuses U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin of delaying plans to evacuate Americans, sources said.

The report says U.S. intelligence officials are agreed that "only decisive military action by the United States could reverse the situation" in South Vietnam where the Saigon government recently surrendered the northern two-thirds of the country to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The report was prepared by Richard M. Moose and Charles E. Meissner, staff members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who returned last weekend from an 11-day fact-finding tour of Vietnam and Cambodia. Their conclusions are contained in a 16-page secret report to the Senate committee.

While indicating that the evacuation of Americans should be receiving high priority from the U.S. embassy in Saigon, the report says Martin is "actively" resisting such a "dangerously overdue" step, although the document also says that such planning finally began last week, according to informed sources.

As a result of this reported delay, the study says, "the anxiety of the American community is compounded by the absence of a cohesive, well-understood evacuation procedure and by what outsiders perceive as an air of unreality pervading the highest level of the embassy."

The study also says that "virtually all Vietnamese military and civilian leaders agree that (South Vietnam President Nguyen Van) Thieu must go if the armed forces are to be rallied to Saigon's defense ...

"The Vietnamese military does not consider" more military aid as critical "in the short run" as removing Thieu, the report says.

On the other hand, President Ford said Wednesday he is "absolutely convinced" South Vietnam can stabilize its defenses against the North Vietnamese invasion if Congress quickly approves his request for $722 million for weapons and ammunition.

Analysts noted general anticipation of a further easing in credit conditions. On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .75 to 83.86.

NYSE volume had reached 15.34 million shares after the first two hours. If that pace continued, the market stood an excellent chance of turning in its seventh 30 million-share day of the year.

The NYSE's composite index was up .50 at 46.34.

Late Spring Proves Boon To Maple Syrup Producers

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Spring never comes too late for the Paul Dill family of Champaign County.

The Dills, four-generation producers of maple syrup, reap their biggest harvests when temperatures fluctuate between frost and thaw.

Each year, beginning in February, the Dill family taps the maple trees on their 80-acre farm and hang out 3,000 buckets to collect the sap.

From there, the sap is transferred to a 5,000 gallon underground tank to await cooking.

Paul Dill, who learned the business from his father-in-law, Otto Wilson, says it takes 50 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple syrup.

In the 70 years since Otto Wilson first began making maple syrup, production has ranged from 35 to 1,150 gallons a year. This year's output is expected to be about 400 gallons.

Maple syrup is selling for $12 a gallon in Ohio and up to $18 a gallon in Michigan, but Paul Dill said he makes very little money out of the venture.

Portugal Nationalizes Industries

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military government today announced the nationalization of more basic industries, a sweeping land reform program, a price freeze on basic foods and a work program to combat unemployment.

The government said the steel, electricity, petroleum and transport industries would be taken over, and it promised more nationalization to bring most basic industries under government control.

It said owners of irrigated farm property will be limited to 125 acres, and the government will also take over the very large unirrigated estates in the southern part of the country.

The nationalization measures were promised in a government economic plan published in February. Banks and insurance companies were not included in the original blueprint, but the government took them over last month after an abortive attempt at a military uprising which it blamed on conservatives.

As in the nationalization of the banks and insurance companies, foreign companies were largely unaffected.

The government said there had been a "critical re-evaluation" of policies for on-shore and off-shore oil prospecting, now conducted by foreign companies. It said the government would "fully honor all its current agreement with foreign companies, although without excluding the eventual revision of those contracts which could be affected by an agreement by both parties."

Dill said high production costs cut down on personal profit and making maple syrup, with its demanding long winter hours, is more a labor of love for the family.

Besides Dill and his wife, Ruth, the business includes their daughter Dina and sons Ray and Joe. Joe's 11-year-old son Jeff is also engaged to drive a sap-collecting tractor through the maze of maples.

When Otto Wilson first started out, syrup was made by boiling the sap in large outdoor kettles until it reached the proper thickness.

Today, stainless steel tanks have replaced the kettles and the process is faster.

But, as Paul Dill points out, production is not much higher because no one's yet found a way to make the trees give up more sap.

Emissions Testing May End

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-Ohio said the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has agreed to his suggestion to scrap mandatory auto emission testing in Cincinnati while an 18-month air test is made.

Gradison made the statement Wednesday evening following a meeting with EPA Administrator Russell Train.

Gradison said he argued that it was "unfair" to force mandatory tests for Cincinnati while five other counties, inside the regional air quality maintenance study are not required to make similar tests.

The EPA study, expected to take 18 months, also includes Butler and Clermont counties in Ohio and Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties in Kentucky, Gradison said.

Cincinnati and suburban Norwood began conducting the tests Jan. 1 as ordered by the EPA. Hamilton County officials postponed the program until June 1 because of pending litigation over the measure.

Gradison said Train promised an answer to the congressman's request that testing be suspended in Cincinnati, but was non-committal on the time.

Electrical Shortage Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb warned today that the nation may start running short of electric power within five years.

Zarb touched briefly on this warning in an appearance before the American Society of Newspaper Editors—ASNE, then elaborated on it in an interview with The Associated Press.

In a question period with the ASNE, Zarb said, "I am beginning to put together some data which indicate that at our current rate, given a reasonable (economic) recovery, over the next five years we can be in a power shortage position."

Zarb added that such shortages "can induce slackened economic activity because of a lack of power, particularly in some areas of the country."

"That gives me great cause for concern," he added.

Asked in the interview to explain his concern, Zarb said he was studying present plans for power plant construction, expected cutbacks and delays, and the problems of raising capital for construction and finding appropriate locations for power plants.

Oil Independence Impossible?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States "will never be completely independent of foreign producers" of oil, former federal energy czar John C. Sawhill said Wednesday.

What the United States needs to do, said the energy consultant to Congress, is to become "no longer dependent on one area."

Sawhill said the fact that the Paris negotiations between the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and the industrialized nations broke down Wednesday hastens the need for Congress to initiate a coherent and effective national energy policy.

"It is clear that we are not only running out of money and oil; but out of time as well. The time for talk is over; we must begin to take action," he said, addressing the 52nd Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association.

Congress now has formulated some alternatives to the Administration's suggested forced voluntary conservation program through increased energy prices, Sawhill said.

Sawhill said Congress' plans "are all based on the underlying principle that we should not do anything to reduce energy consumption which would slow down the rate of economic recovery."

"Given the human and social costs of recession and given the ebbing of inflation, we cannot afford to adopt energy policies which will in any way stand in the path of a rapid return to full employment," he said.

Congress' alternatives emphasize a "more gradual reduction in oil imports than the Ford proposals and a more moderate increase in energy taxes. In addition, they contain tougher energy conservation measures and are more oriented towards environmental concerns," Sawhill said.

Sawhill said supply increase measures to be discussed in the coming weeks will include the opening of naval petroleum reserves to production, the creation of strategic reserves, gradual increases in the prices of both natural gas and oil, and a start towards exploration of the offshore continental shelf. Sawhill said he also expects Congress to consider a bill to regulate strip mining, some easing of the Clean Air Act requirements to permit utilities to switch from oil to coal and possibly an energy facilities siting bill.

On the demand side, Sawhill said he expects Congress to provide tax credits to homeowners who insulate their homes, and subsidies to people who cannot take advantage of a tax credit.

Sawhill said the short-term answer to the energy problem is to reduce energy consumption. But voluntary conservation is not enough, he said. "We need mandatory conservation measures combined with tax and other economic incentives to use energy more efficiently."

Sawhill said he favored the imposition of a moderate, gradually increasing tax on gasoline as one way the United States "can start down the path of energy efficiency."

Deaths from uterine cancer could be further reduced if every adult woman had a Pap test with her annual checkup and if postmenopausal women were checked by their doctors for any abnormal bleeding, says the American Cancer Society.

A Page Of Opinion

Common Misery

'Tis the season of the common cold (which season isn't?)—except that the cold isn't common. It is true that everyone is susceptible to colds, but not the same ones. That is part of the trouble.

Science has not yet uncovered the solution to colds, therefore all knowledge and theories concerning colds are subject to change. But there are some verities which so far have withstood the test of time.

Researchers have isolated a number of different cold viruses, so it is known that the enemy is as diverse as it is common. It is known that the animal world suffers from colds also, but generally not the same types as humans. Chimpanzees are among the few lower animals which apparently do suffer from some of the same cold viruses as man.

Some of the viruses which cause colds in man cannot be passed on to others, so it is not known how they spread. It has been discovered that viruses are most active early in the cold cycle.

How long will it be until a vaccine or other cure is available? The question was first asked more than 50 years ago, and researchers are as hesitant today to predict a breakthrough as they were then. The only certainty is that millions of dollars are being spent on a cure for the cold, more attention has been given this ailment than any other, and someday there will be a cure.

In the meantime, the sneezes, wheezes and coughs remain in control of the situation.

Resists The Rescue

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — It is always disheartening to tell troubled overseas friends that the Yanks are not coming to rescue them, as the U.S. Cavalry always rescued the embattled settlers in the old John Ford movies.

It came as a thunderclap of a surprise to millions of Hungarians that we did not send clouds of paratroopers to Budapest to save the brave Freedom Fighters, who rose up in 1956 to fight Khrushchev's tanks bare-fisted. They, or at least some of them, thought they had an understanding with the then fiercely anti-Communist U.S. government, Congress and Defense Department.

through the world, who now question whether we'd help them if they ever got in real trouble."

The South Vietnamese are running out of places to run. Only a tiny fraction of them have the means or influence to get to this country or disappear into some other part of Indochina where they can blend in.

We can't help but worry about the other millions of South Vietnamese who will be overrun.

Former Voice of America analyst Samuel Adams recently suggested in the Wall Street Journal that the number of heads the Reds will roll as they sweep down through South Vietnam could reach 100,000. Far be it for me to doubt a CIA man when the matter of liquidation is concerned, but I question the analyst's analysis. Sure, the inevitable winners — now that the Yanks aren't coming — will kill a certain number of leaders, if they can catch them, just as we and the other Allies knocked off a baker's dozen of

Nazis and Japanese after the war trials. (And just as Hitler would have hanged Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and DeGaulle if he had won.)

But to envision the streets of Saigon, Can Tho, Hue and Da Nang awash with the blood of the defeated is a bit too much to conjure. To make the late Ho Chin Minh's old dream come true, a united Vietnam that does not have to pay tribute to the U.S., Russia or China, the defeated people of South Vietnam will not be mass executed. One who has been there a few times guesses that they will be "embraced," a synonym for "absorbed." Millions who fled southward will be put back into their cities and hamlets, they will work for the "state" rather than for themselves or their district leaders.

And one day, as we have done in Russia, China, Eastern Europe and are on the verge of doing in Cuba we'll give them full diplomatic recognition, trade and rights to "Gunsmoke" reruns.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

Same with the Cuban refugees who got out on their own or we bought, in effect, from Castro. There were 650,000 of them through the 1960s. At a stirring rally in Miami, President John F. Kennedy deeply moved a stadium-full of them when he promised them that they'd one day march back to a liberated Havana with flags flying. Jackie assured them in Spanish that they couldn't miss. Now there's a good chance we'll recognize Castro diplomatically before the year is out.

To the consternation of many Czechoslovakians, we didn't send the B-52s and the 82nd Airborne when the Russians cuffed them around pitilessly a few years ago. What some of the older Czechs could not understand is that Woodrow Wilson was their godfather, so why didn't we help when the big bully stepped on Dubeck and other brave men and women who asserted Wilsonian democratic doctrines? So, more or less on the quiet, we gave haven to hundreds of them, as readily as we had opened our doors to 640,000 displaced people after World War II, and as emotionally and joyously as we are now taking the Vietnamese orphans into our arms.

But what of the other millions of South Vietnamese from age 12 to 100 to whom we now must say, "Sorry, we've had it with your lousy war for survival. We lost more than 50,000 dead, 300,000 wounded and $125 billion. We also lost face with a lot of old cherished allies

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the frustrations of many business consultants is that most companies rely almost totally on advancing technology and expanding markets to achieve productivity gains.

In the process, it is said, business usually overlooks the opportunity to obtain more output for the dollar merely by analyzing and changing their work flow and improving work procedures.

"Manpower utilization efficiency in most offices rarely exceeds 60 per cent," says James Skidmore, chief executive of Scientific Management Corp., an international firm specializing in productivity improvement.

Most other productivity specialists agree. Some maintain that efficiency often falls below 40 per cent, a rate that reveals itself to experienced consultants in one sweeping glance at an office into which they have just walked.

Repeated analyses of operating methods of Skidmore's staff shows that office workers have nothing to do at least 17 per cent of the time, and that they waste another 28 per cent of the day because of inefficiency and lack of motivation.

Based on an analysis of 1,600 projects completed, Skidmore claims "virtually every company can increase its productivity from 15 to 30 per cent with the use of existing industrial engineering techniques."

If this is so, then the words of C. Jackson Grayson Jr. are even more significant than they might otherwise appear.

When Grayson was chairman of the Federal Price Commission, he argued that if the United States could increase its annual rate of productivity growth just 1 per cent for 10 years, it would create $600 billion of new wealth.

Grayson still maintains that the only real answer to inflation is to increase productivity, which many people erroneously assume to mean running the machines faster and working the employees harder.

While that notion might have once prevailed, it is now considered counterproductive — actually leading to lower output per manhour expended.

In effect, all it means is efficient production, achieved by wise use of capital, informed management, a sensible work flow, proper job identification, good morale, advanced technology and the like.

Industrial Decline Slowing

By G.G. LaBELLE
Associated Press Writer

The nation's industrial output was still falling in March but, mostly because of automobiles, the March drop was the smallest since last October and government economists saw this as a hopeful sign.

An automobile development was also cited as one reason the stock market continued its climb Tuesday, but at the same time the four major auto makers reported sales in early April were 29 per cent below a year ago.

Tuesday's upswing of 8.13 in the Dow Jones industrial average to 815.08 put the Dow at its highest point since last June 26. It was the sixth straight session of upswing, meaning the Dow is up 72.20 since a week ago Monday.

In other economic developments: —President Ford was expected to invoke emergency action to block a national railroad strike threatened Friday by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

—A circuit court in Omaha, Neb., ruled the Agriculture Department will have to wait at least 45 days to implement new beef grading standards that critics say will mean higher prices for lesser grades of beef.

—A White House spokesman said the Ford administration opposes a House-passed bill for loans to protect the unemployed from losing their homes through mortgage foreclosures.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 17, the 107th day of 1975. There are 258 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1521, the Diet at Worms, Germany, excommunicated Martin Luther from the Roman Catholic Church after the former monk refused to admit to charges of heresy.

On this date—

In 1943, U.S. bombers hit Palermo, Sicily.

In 1945, the United States announced that Japan had lost more than 200 planes in a single day of suicide attacks in the Battle of Okinawa.

In 1958, a world's fair opened at Brussels, Belgium.

Ten years ago: The U.S. was urging Western allies to join in a common front in insisting upon international controls over all foreign sales of atomic reactors and fuels.

The doors of Wittich's confectionery store closed after business associations in Circleville of 90 years. The store was sold to A. W. Phillips.

The "Road of Remembrance" dedicated to the soldiers who lost their lives in World War I, became a reality when 89 trees were planted along either side of the Scioto Trail about three miles south of Circleville between Triangle Farms and Scippo on the Chillicothe Pike. The road was too narrow to plant north of town as originally planned.

An Elliott Nugent fan club, formed through the efforts of Nancy Jane Merriman, had as its members in addition to Miss Merriman, Jeannette Bowers, Mary Roth, Dorothy Clark, Sheldon Mader, Richard Stump, Margaret Rooney, Robert Rooney, Charlotte Steinhauser and Pat Kirwin.

A Columbus bank trust attorney, guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce meeting, told the members "Get behind your city and push, talk, live, think, dream and sell Circleville."

Man Trys Building Better Alpenhorn

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Not many people try to build a better alpenhorn.

First of all you have to know what an alpenhorn is—a wooden instrument used by mountain shepherds for centuries to signal villagers miles below.

Second, you have to recognize that people aren't going to beat a path to your door even if you do.

J. Gilbert Mohr knew both those things and he still went ahead. He says his alpenhorn is a success.

Mohr, senior research engineer at Johns Manville Fiber Glass Division in nearby Waterville, designed an alpenhorn from fiber glass. He contends the 12-foot-long, blue-green instrument has mellow tones that rival those of its wooden brothers in Europe.

Mohr, a valve trombone man himself, got the idea for fabricating a fiber glass alpenhorn after assisting in the development of fiber glass for a sousaphone in 1957.

He first asked for help from the Toledo Blade Zip Line, which put him in touch with a wooden Swiss horn in the office of Arnold Seus of Toledo.

The newspaper suggested he get in touch with Herman Eggemon of Cleveland, a native Swiss who has played the alpenhorn with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

"After conversations with these gentlemen I was hooked," said Mohr. "I just had to build my own horn."

Mohr called in an old friend, Lawrence G. Godie, president of Bay View Plastic Inc., who has been in the glass fiber manufacture and tooling business for 20 years.

Using materials supplied by Johns Manville, Godie built the horn, which is straight for 10 feet and then has a two-foot curved bell. At the mouthpiece it is 1½ inches, enlarging to 10 inches at the bell.

Mohr said the instrument plays in perfect concert F pitch.

He has introduced the instrument in several night spots where he plays in a jazz group. He also plays trombone with a group of businessmen known as the "Generation Gap."

Mohr took his alpenhorn to Washington earlier this year where it was exhibited at the Society of the Plastic Industry Technical and Management Conference.

Soviet Naval Maneuvers Massive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian navy is engaged in worldwide maneuvers that may develop into the biggest in peacetime history, Pentagon sources report.

Some 200 Soviet ships have been deployed so far, about the same as in the last such major maneuvers five years ago. Sources said the number is increasing.

All elements of the Soviet navy, including surface warships, submarines and the Russian naval air arm, are said to be involved. Russian merchant ships also are taking part.

Sources said there are indications the Indian Ocean, increasingly important because oil tanker routes pass through those waters, will be a main focus of the Soviet naval exercises.

Other major Russian naval activity has been observed in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, the Norwegian sea and the Pacific, sources said.

The 1970 exercise, which the Russians called Okean, lasted about three weeks and demonstrated to U.S. naval strategists that the Soviets had achieved an ability to extend their naval reach into all the seas.

Until the early 1960s, the Soviet navy concentrated chiefly on defending home waters and coasts. A limited Soviet naval reach, which showed up in the U.S.-Russian confrontation over missiles in Cuba, was corrected in the next decade as the Russian fleet underwent major modernization.

Since the 1970 maneuvers, the Russians have sent to sea several new classes of warships, including the Kara class cruiser which the U.S. Navy calls the most heavily armed surface combatant in the world.

Republic Steel Earnings Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Republic Steel Corp. reported strong rises Tuesday in first-quarter sales and earnings, saying the picture would have been better still but for the coal strike late last year.

Net income for the period was $33.7 million or $2.08 per share on sales of $673.43 million, compared with earnings of $21.48 million or $1.33 per share on sales of $585.44 million a year earlier.

The firm also said its steel shipments fell 20.5 per cent to 1.7 million tons, compared with 2.13 million a year earlier.

W. J. De Lancey, company president and chief executive officer, said the firm expects shipments to drop during the summer but that there will be a general turn-around in business later and a resultant upswing in steel demand.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Common Misery

'Tis the season of the common cold (which season isn't?)—except that the cold isn't common. It is true that everyone is susceptible to colds, but not the same ones. That is part of the trouble.

Science has not yet uncovered the solution to colds, therefore all knowledge and theories concerning colds are subject to change. But there are some verities which so far have withstood the test of time.

Researchers have isolated a number of different cold viruses, so it is known that the enemy is "as diverse as it is common. It is known that the animal world suffers from colds also, but generally not the same types as humans. Chimpanzees are among the few lower animals which apparently do suffer from some of the same cold viruses as man.

Some of the viruses which cause colds in man cannot be passed on to others, so it is not known how they spread. It has been discovered that viruses are most active early in the cold cycle.

How long will it be until a vaccine or other cure is available? The question was first asked more than 50 years ago, and researchers are as hesitant today to predict a breakthrough as they were then. The only certainty is that millions of dollars are being spent on a cure for the cold, more attention has been given this ailment than any other, and someday there will be a cure.

In the meantime, the sneezes, wheezes and coughs remain in control of the situation.

Resists The Rescue

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — It is always disheartening to tell troubled overseas friends that the Yanks are not coming to rescue them, as the U.S. Cavalry always rescued the embattled settlers in the old John Ford movies.

It came as a thunderclap of a surprise to millions of Hungarians that we did not send clouds of paratroopers to Budapest to save the brave Freedom Fighters, who rose up in 1956 to fight Khrushchev's tanks bare-fisted. They, or at least some of them, thought they had an understanding with the then fiercely anti-Communist U.S. government, Congress and Defense Department.

It became the task of a first-rate American diplomat, Robert Murphy, to explain to a series of emotional Hungarian-American delegations who called on him at the State Department that they were completely wrong — that we had absolutely no intention of intervening, any more than we had intervened when the Russians chopped down the students' uprising in Poland a few months before. So, as to save our national conscience, which has remained the strongest among the nations for two centuries, we dropped the quota bars and many thousands of Hungarians made it to these friendly shores.

Same with the Cuban refugees who got out on their own or we bought, in effect, from Castro. There were 650,000 of them through the 1960s. At a stirring rally in Miami, President John F. Kennedy deeply moved a stadium-full of them when he promised them that they'd one day march back to a liberated Havana with flags flying. Jackie assured them in Spanish that they couldn't miss. Now there's a good chance we'll recognize Castro diplomatically before the year is out.

To the consternation of many Czechoslovaks, we didn't send the B-52s and the 82nd Airborne when the Russians cuffed them around pitilessly a few years ago. What some of the older Czechs could not understand is that Woodrow Wilson was their godfather, so why didn't we help when the big bully stepped on Dubcek and other brave men and women who asserted Wilsonian democratic doctrines? So, more or less on the quiet, we gave haven to hundreds of them, as readily as we had opened our doors to 640,000 displaced people after World War II, and as emotionally and joyously as we are now taking the Vietnamese orphans into our arms.

But what of the other millions of South Vietnamese from age 12 to 100 to whom we now must say, "Sorry, we've had it with your lousy war for survival. We lost more than 50,000 dead, 300,000 wounded and $125 billion. We also lost face with a lot of old cherished allies through the world, who now question whether we'd help them if they ever got in real trouble."

The South Vietnamese are running out of places to run. Only a tiny fraction of them have the means or influence to get to this country or disappear into some other part of Indochina where they can blend in.

We can't help but worry about the other millions of South Vietnamese who will be overrun.

Former Voice of America analyst Samuel Adams recently suggested in the Wall Street Journal that the number of heads the Reds will roll as they sweep down through South Vietnam could reach 100,000. Far be it for me to doubt a CIA man when the matter of liquidation is concerned, but I question the analyst's analysis. Sure, the inevitable winners — now that the Yanks aren't coming — will kill a certain number of leaders, if they can catch them, just as we and the other Allies knocked off a baker's dozen of

Nazis and Japanese after the war trials. (And just as Hitler would have hanged Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and DeGaulle if he had won.)

But to envision the streets of Saigon, Can Tho, Hue and Da Nang awash with the blood of the defeated is a bit too much to conjure. To make the late Ho Chin Minh's old dream come true, a united Vietnam that does not have to pay tribute to the U.S., Russia or China, the defeated people of South Vietnam will not be mass executed. One who has been there a few times guesses that they will be "embraced," a synonym for "absorbed." Millions who fled southward will be put back into their cities and hamlets, they will work for the "state" rather than for themselves or their district leaders.

And one day, as we have done in Russia, China, Eastern Europe and are on the verge of doing in Cuba we'll give them full diplomatic recognition, trade and rights to "Gunsmoke" reruns.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the frustrations of many business consultants is that most companies rely almost totally on advancing technology and expanding markets to achieve productivity gains.

In the process, it is said, business usually overlooks the opportunity to obtain more output for the dollar merely by analyzing and changing their work flow and improving work procedures.

"Manpower utilization efficiency in most offices rarely exceeds 60 per cent," says James Skidmore, chief executive of Scientific Management Corp., an international firm specializing in productivity improvement.

Most other productivity specialists agree. Some maintain that efficiency often falls below 40 per cent, a rate that reveals itself to experienced consultants in one sweeping glance at an office into which they have just walked.

Repeated analyses of operating methods of Skidmore's staff shows that office workers have nothing to do at least 17 per cent of the time, and that they waste another 28 per cent of the day because of inefficiency and lack of motivation.

Based on an analysis of 1,600 projects completed, Skidmore claims "virtually every company can increase its productivity from 15 to 30 per cent with the use of existing industrial engineering techniques."

If this is so, then the words of C. Jackson Grayson Jr. are even more significant than they might otherwise appear.

When Grayson was chairman of the Federal Price Commission, he argued that if the United States could increase its annual rate of productivity growth just 1 per cent for 10 years, it would create $600 billion of new wealth.

Grayson still maintains that the only real answer to inflation is to increase productivity, which many people erroneously assume to mean running the machines faster and working the employees harder.

While that notion might have once prevailed, it is now considered counterproductive — actually leading to lower output per manhour expended.

In effect, all it means is efficient production, achieved by wise use of capital, informed management, a sensible work flow, proper job identification, good morale, advanced technology and the like.

Industrial Decline Slowing

By G.G. LaBELLE
Associated Press Writer

The nation's industrial output was still falling in March but, mostly because of automobiles, the March drop was the smallest since last October and government economists saw this as a hopeful sign.

An automobile development was also cited as one reason the stock market continued its climb Tuesday, but at the same time the four major auto makers reported sales in early April were 29 per cent below a year ago.

Tuesday's upswing of 8.13 in the Dow Jones industrial average to 815.08 put the Dow at its highest point since last June 26. It was the sixth straight session of upswing, meaning the Dow is up 72.20 since a week ago Monday.

In other economic developments: —President Ford was expected to invoke emergency action to block a national railroad strike threatened Friday by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

—A circuit court in Omaha, Neb., ruled the Agriculture Department will have to wait at least 45 days to implement new beef grading standards that critics say will mean higher prices for lesser grades of beef.

—A White House spokesman said the Ford administration opposes a House-passed bill for loans to protect the unemployed from losing their homes through mortgage foreclosures.

The fundamental rules of first aid can be learned with less than two hours of intensive training. Such an investment of time can produce dividends as important as life itself.

A great sense of security could be derived from the knowledge that other automobiles passing in all directions also contain safety equipment should the need arise.

A moisture-proof box divided into small compartments can contain sterile packets of gauze pads and gauze bandage, and cotton. Rolls of adhesive tape, scissors, safety pins, tweezers, a rubber tourniquet and a good flashlight should be included.

There is no need to overload such an emergency kit with splints and burdensome equipment. Splints can always be created if a fracture is evident.

The addition of a small canister of oxygen is of vital importance for the treatment of a heart emergency.

An identifying flag attached to the radio antenna can indicate that help is urgently needed. Passing automobiles would be alerted to the call for medical help.

Physicians, paramedical assistants, firemen, police officers, lifeguards and others with emergency training would know that an emergency existed.

Sneek-A-Peek
AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There is something to sing about — the Circleville Junior Women's Club has purchased some delightful musical records for the children's room.

Is there anyone out there who has not sung "Put Your Finger in the Air?" Woody Guthrie has assembled an irresistible collection of songs he has sung to his own three year old daughter. New and old favorites are offered in his "Songs to Grow On."

"When I Grow Up" featuring the Golden Boys Chorus gives us a humorous account of why boys want to be golfers, submarine steerers and weathermen, among other careers. This is fun as it includes up-to-date choices without neglecting the policeman and the farmer.

"Noisy and Quiet, Big and Little" has listening and guessing games such as "How Many Pennies in a Nickel?" and "Big and Little, Which am I?" Tom Glazer and old favorite visitor on the Captain Kangaroo Show sings and plays the guitar in his special friendly style.

New activity records include "Fourteen Numbers, Letters and Animal Songs" with well known tunes like "Six Little Ducks" and "This Old Man." Also new is a record of hand rhythms stressing basic hand exercises for small children. This would be very useful with handicapped and bedfast children, too.

There are song books for every child, too. Wouldn't your family enjoy the "Laura Ingalls Wilder Songbook?" All the songs from the famous "Little House" book series, featured on television are here. Brief notes with the music indicate the page of the story on which each song appears. There are singing games, hymns and patriotic songs for group or home enjoyment.

Also set in bygone days is "The Erie Canal," a book based on the well known folk song. Enchanting, full color, double page scenes recreating bustling life along the canal. A map of the canal route and musical accompaniment for the song are provided.

"The Fireside Book of Birds and Beasts has music and words for one hundred songs about animals. Included is one of the most popular songs for camp and school singing, "I Know an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Fly."

If you ever wanted to try out "The Muffin Man" or "John Brown Had a Little Indian" on the piano, take home "Jim Along, Josie" a jolly book which will delight your family. All the music is simple enough for the beginning pianist.

Sing, sing, sing! Music brightens the dullest day.

FREE FISH FIGHT — Two men tug at a pollock at Boston's fish pier when the owner of a fishing trawler gave away 27,000 pounds of fish rather than sell them to wholesalers for the going rate, because the price is too low. The man at right finally got the fish and said he was going home and have his picture taken with the fish and tell his friends he caught it.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There is something to sing about — the Circleville Junior Women's Club has purchased some delightful musical records for the children's room.

Is there anyone out there who has not sung "Put Your Finger in the Air?" Woody Guthrie has assembled an irresistible collection of songs he has sung to his own three year old daughter. New and old favorites are offered in his "Songs to Grow On."

"When I Grow Up" featuring the Golden Boys Chorus gives us a humorous account of why boys want to be golfers, submarine steers and weathermen, among other careers. This is fun as it includes up-to-date choices without neglecting the policeman and the farmer.

"Noisy and Quiet, Big and Little" has listening and guessing games such as "How Many Pennies in a Nickel?" and "Big and Little, Which am I?" Tom Glazer and old favorite visitor on the Captain Kangaroo Show sings and plays the guitar in his special friendly style.

New activity records include "Fourteen Numbers, Letters and Animal Songs" with well known tunes like "Six Little Ducks" and "This Old Man." Also new is a record of hand rhythms stressing basic hand exercises for small children. This would be very useful with handicapped and bedfast children, too.

There are song books for every child, too. Wouldn't your family enjoy the "Laura Ingalls Wilder Songbook?" All the songs from the famous "Little House" book series, featured on television are here. Brief notes with the music indicate the page of the story on which each song appears. There are singing games, hymns and patriotic songs for group or home enjoyment.

Also set in bygone days is "The Erie Canal," a book based on the well known folk song. Enchanting, full color, double page scenes recreating bustling life along the canal. A map of the canal route and musical accompaniment for the song are provided.

"The Fireside Book of Birds and Beasts" has music and words for one hundred songs about animals. Included is one of the most popular songs for camp and school singing, "I Know an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Fly."

If you ever wanted to try out "The Muffin Man" or "John Brown Had a Little Indian" on the piano, take home "Jim Along, Josie" a jolly book which will delight your family. All the music is simple enough for the beginning pianist.

Sing, sing, sing! Music brightens the dullest day.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Fiancee Wants More Than Talk

DEAR ABBY: My younger brother and his wife are both 23. I guess you could call them "hippies". They live in a large house in the country with a lot of other hippies.

My brother's wife is expecting her first baby in a few months, and she plans to have it at home with the others in the home "helping." Another woman who lives in the home is having a baby next month, and they expect to learn everything they need to know then.

Although both these kids are bright and not ruined by drugs, they won't listen to any "old wives' tales" or to their lab-technician brother-in-law about the dangers of this. My brother's wife is RH negative.

They say they live only 10 minutes from a hospital, and that's enough.

Can you give me some good arguments for convincing them not to go through with their plan? What so your medical advisers say?

J.
DEAR J.: I agree that this young couple are foolish not to have a prenatal examination to be sure that the mother can anticipate a reasonably normal birth process.

Failure to do this could endanger the lives of both the mother and the new infant during birth. The couple are seriously underestimating the possible problems and complications that could arise if they think that watching one delivery will teach them "everything they need to know."

There is nothing wrong with wanting to have the delivery at home, but they would be well advised to at least have an experienced midwife to assist them.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

WORRIED IN CHICAGO
DEAR WORRIED: No. But it's a good beginning.

DEAR ABBY: You once remarked that a woman of 65 was not exactly an ancient relic yet-or words to that effect.

Well, that is my age, and that is also my feeling.

I am presently keeping company with a very fine gentleman. He is refined, cultured, lonely and 80-years-old.

I could be interested in him if I were sure we could have a "real" marriage. My problem is how to find out.

What do you think, Dear Abby? I have heard men in their 70's and 80's boast that they are as "young" as they were 30 years ago, but of course I never knew whether they were telling the truth. Is it possible?

I wouldn't want to marry a man who could do nothing but talk. Don't use my name please. Everybody here knows me.

NO GAMBLER IN NEVADA
DEAR NO: It is possible for a man to be sexually active as long as he lives- no matter how old he is. But the only way you can find out if you can have a "real" marriage with this cultured gentleman is to ask him. And pray that he's not just another "talker."

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE "THE GRADUATE": Do not send out an "announcement each time you earn a degree. Your family and close friends will know, and the others might get the idea that you are bragging by degrees.

Bank Holdup Plot Bared

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — An assistant U.S. attorney said two men were arrested Tuesday on a charge of conspiracy to rob the 1st National Bank of Pandora and hold the bank president as hostage.

Attorney Erie D. Chapman III identified the men arrested as George Burkholder, 32, of Bluffton and Ted Vickery, 26, of Lima.

The arrest warrant contended that the men met on at least three occasions to plan the Putnam County bank holdup and intended to kidnap bank President Warren Bridenbaugh. Bridenbaugh was to be abducted Sunday night and the bank robbed Monday, the warrant said.

Chapman said the scheme was learned of through an informant who participated in the early stages of the alleged plan.

Dog Licensing Bill Grows By

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Yipping, barking and growling as they cast their votes, members of the House voted 94-0 Wednesday to extend for 19 days the time during which dog owners can register their pets.

The bill, which makes dog licenses valid for 19 days into the year following the year of issue, now goes to the Senate.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. William A. Kopp, D-29 Columbus, said the bill was needed because present law sets expiration date for the tags as Dec. 31, but doesn't impose a penalty until Jan. 20.

He said some pet owners erroneously believe their pets are legally registered until the latter date.

Court Eases Air Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today gave the Environmental Protection Agency and the states broad discretion to allow some air pollution to continue beyond the deadline for national air quality standards.

By a 7-1 decision, the court ruled that the EPA may approve variances granted by the states to polluters so long as the exemptions do not prevent over-all compliance with the air quality standards.

The decision overturned a U.S. circuit court decision striking down Georgia's state plan for implementing the standards.

The Supreme Court decision approves the Georgia plan and similar ones adopted by Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Consumerism Harries Peltier

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gordon J. Peltier's appointment as commerce director ran into serious trouble in a Senate committee which questioned his current stance on consumer policies as well as his past record with the department.

The Elections, Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee turned him down by a 6-3 vote.

Consumerism was not a hot issue when the 57-year-old attorney ran the commerce department for seven and a half years during Gov. James A. Rhodes' two previous terms.

However, in 1972 the legislature created a consumer protection division and placed it under commerce. When majority Democrats tried to switch the division to the office of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown earlier this year, Republicans filed a court suit to block the legislation.

Peltier told the Senate committee he found it difficult to initiate new programs. But he added, "I think it (consumerism) is fine. It should flourish and grow."

Much of the committee's inquiry has involved real estate broker's tests given to Peltier and Rhodes in January, 1971, just before the Republican governor's last administration left office.

Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton, also has questions about Peltier's consumer posture.

Headley got no denial from the director when he charged that 3,000 "Consumer Protection Kits," 270,000 home improvement brochures and 30,000 mobile home tip booklets have been held up. Requests for the pamphlets were answered with letters saying they were "out of print," Headley claimed.

Peltier said he didn't recall that, but acknowledged the department wanted to "look at all of those things to see if they should be rewritten." And he said the name of former Gov. John J. Gilligan had to be removed from the literature.

At least two new rules governing advertising techniques have been held in abeyance since Peltier took over in January.

He extended to mid-April a March 17 deadline for regulations that would have required exclusions and limitations in sales advertising to be in clear and conspicuous print. Peltier agreed to allow more time for possible amendments to the rule after listening to about a half hour of testimony at a public hearing.

A hearing is pending on a rule to require discount stores to sell at least 75 per cent of their merchandise at a minimum of 10 per cent below regular prices.

The rule was to have taken effect Jan. 20, but has been ensnarled in court actions filed by the Ohio Retail Merchants Association.

Mike Hohn, a commerce staff attorney, said the consumer division wouldn't voluntarily enforce the rule because it had been changed substantially from original guidelines presented at a public hearing last December.

The Peltier appointment must ultimately be approved by the full Senate where Democrats hold clear-cut majority.

Bank Holdup Plot Bared

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — An assistant U.S. attorney said two men were arrested Tuesday on a charge of conspiracy to rob the 1st National Bank of Pandora and hold the bank president as hostage.

Attorney Erie D. Chapman III identified the men arrested as George Burkholder, 32, of Bluffton and Ted Vickery, 26, of Lima.

The arrest warrant contended that the men met on at least three occasions to plan the Putnam County bank holdup and intended to kidnap bank President Warren Bridenbaugh. Bridenbaugh was to be abducted Sunday night and the bank robbed Monday, the warrant said.

Chapman said the scheme was learned of through an informant who participated in the early stages of the alleged plan.

Dog Licensing Bill Grows By

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Yipping, barking and growling as they cast their votes, members of the House voted 94-0 Wednesday to extend for 19 days the time during which dog owners can register their pets.

The bill, which makes dog licenses valid for 19 days into the year following the year of issue, now goes to the Senate.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. William A. Kopp, D-29 Columbus, said the bill was needed because present law sets expiration date for the tags as Dec. 31, but doesn't impose a penalty until Jan. 20.

He said some pet owners erroneously believe their pets are legally registered until the latter date.

Leukemia Society Founded In 1949

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is one of a series sponsored by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce as a public information project involving local health service agencies.

The Leukemia Society of America, Inc. is a national, voluntary health agency founded in 1949. Presently there are approximately 45 chapters throughout the United States, three of which are located in Ohio. The Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America has been conducting annual drives since 1960.

Leukemia is a disease of the tissues that produce white blood cells, bone marrow, lymph nodes and spleen. While primarily an adult disease, leukemia claims the lives of more children ages 4-14 than any other disease. Leukemia and related diseases (lymphomas, including Hodgkin's disease) will strike approximately 43,000 Americans during 1975.

The Leukemia Society cooperates with all relevant agencies to insure benefits to the leukemia patient, however, it is a wholly independent organization concentrating its entire resources toward the effective control and eventual eradication of leukemia.

The Leukemia Society of America supports three basic programs: research support, aid to leukemia patients in need of assistance, in 1949, the Leukemia Society of America has contributed its research funds almost exclusively to the support of research projects in an amount of approximately $7,500,000 for 315 research

Find More Mushrooms Dangerous

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health said Wednesday the federal Food and Drug Administration reported three additional brands are part of a lot of canned mushrooms being tested for possible botulism contamination.

As far as can be determined, the department said, none of the brands Giant Pride, Richlieu and Quaker State are sold in Ohio.

Preliminary tests in the department's laboratories found possible botulism contamination in an eight-ounce can of Heritage House brand mushrooms removed last weekend from a central Ohio supermarket chain.

While further tests were conducted by FDA, health and agriculture department officials urged consumers with cans bearing the code numbers LK 403 P1 to refrain from eating the contents.

The FDA said it would determine further action when testing was completed.

Fisher Foods Inc. of Cleveland, distributors of Heritage House, said it was recalling eight-ounce cans of mushroom stems and pieces bearing that code from store shelves throughout the state.

The FDA said Heritage House and the three other brands were distributed during last December and January in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the Los Angeles area in California.

Have a health checkup once a year for your own sake and for the sake of your family, urges the American Cancer Society.

grants in the United States and foreign countries. Of this amount, approximately 9 grants totaling $353,372.00 has been awarded to researchers in Ohio.

The program, of supplementary financial assistance, administered through Society Chapters located throughout the United States, is intended to ease unusual dollar drain on personal or family finances. Financial assistance in these instances is limited to out-patients, and in all cases, to expenditures not covered by, other resources. The out-patient aid program is designed to cover payment for drugs used in the care and treatment, transfusion of blood, transportation, and certain X-ray therapy. Additionally, the Leukemia Society serves as a referral service to other sources of aid in the community.

Under the caption of Public Education and Information, the Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society has available upon request speakers, films, slide presentations, and literature all of which can be prepared and presented upon request by phoning 1-221-3129.

In the fiscal year 1973, the Central Ohio Chapter through the efforts of its volunteers, raised approximately $120,000. As of December 1974, in excess of $123,000 had been raised of which approximately $4,978.17 had been raised in the Circleville area. As indicated above, the most critical of the Leukemia Society's resources is the many people who contribute their time and efforts. This year the Circleville High School SOS Club collected nearly $300 from the Tag Day in October. Additionally, Frank Gans and the First National Bank acted as a depository for the marcher's kits and Mrs. Jean Ankrom and the Chamber of Commerce continued in their invaluable support. The local chairman is John R. Adkins, 137 E. Main St.

Commercial Point News

Congratulations to Beverly (Henrick) Will of Commercial Point and Fred E. Russell who were united in marriage Saturday at the Bexley United Methodist Church in Columbus. A reception followed the ceremony at the Sheraton Columbus Hotel. The couple is honeymooning in the Caribbean.

Our thanks to all who helped to make the United Methodist Men's variety show a success.

A good crowd attended the Crusaders Gospel Quartet show on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The show was sponsored by the UMYF.

Ken and Mary Ann Slyzuk and daughter Paulette of Anoka, Minn. were dinner guests of Bill and Betty Becker, April 2.

Jimmy Albright II is recuperating at home after a tonsillectomy Friday at Children's Hospital.

After 25 years of being idle, the clock in the Pythian Lodge Hall in Harrisburg has been repaired and is again keeping time for all that pass.

The Daughters of American Council 91 meet in the hall on the first and third Mondays of each month and it is a pleasure to hear the old clock ticking again.

The history of the clock tells a story of a local resident. It was made by Elmer Brown, a lodge member in 1916. The lodge hall was completed in 1918 and the clock installed. At that time, the clock had to be wound by hand each day.

In 1922, the wind mechanism was electrified to eliminate the need to wind it each day. It was repaired this year by lodge member James Decker.

Brown was a well-known inventor in his day. Many can remember the auto he built using buggy wheels.

Grandma Moats, another resident, painted a picture of a mountain scene to cover the back of the clock. The picture is dated 1918.

She also painted other pictures for the lodge hall that are still being enjoyed by the members.

Sympathy is extended to the Taylor family in the recent death of Mr.

Taylor's father, Harold E. Taylor of Columbus.

Our sympathy is also extended to Sara Copeland, wife of the district superintendent, in the death of her mother at the age of 88.

Janet and Judy Schooley entertained to a baby shower on Sunday for Mrs. Merry Hall. The shower was held at the home of her mother Mrs. Edwin Schooley. Merry received several nice gifts for the expected little one.

Leukemia Society Founded In 1949

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is one of a series sponsored by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce as a public information project involving local health service agencies.

The Leukemia Society of America, Inc. is a national, voluntary health agency founded in 1949. Presently there are approximately 45 chapters throughout the United States, three of which are located in Ohio. The Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America has been conducting annual drives since 1960.

Leukemia is a disease of the tissues that produce white blood cells, bone marrow, lymph nodes and spleen. While primarily an adult disease, leukemia claims the lives of more children ages 4-14 than any other disease. Leukemia and related diseases (lymphomas, including Hodgkin's disease) will strike approximately 43,000 Americans during 1975.

The Leukemia Society cooperates with all relevant agencies to insure benefits to the leukemia patient, however, it is a wholly independent organization concentrating its entire resources toward the effective control and eventual eradication of leukemia.

The Leukemia Society of America supports three basic programs: research support, aid to leukemia patients in need of assistance, in 1949, the Leukemia Society of America has contributed its research funds almost exclusively to the support of research projects in a sum of approximately $7,500,000 for 315 research

Tax Chief Testifies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I am the youngest member in the cabinet," said 36-year-old Tax Commissioner Gerald S. Collins in introducing himself Wednesday to a Senate committee that must act on his appointment.

The soft-spoken Collins had relatively smooth sailing after that in his first confirmation hearing before the Democratic-controlled Ways and Means Committee.

He told the committee a bill to switch state income tax collections from his department to the treasurer's office," he said.

The bill, currently stalled in court, was part of a partisan package Democrats rushed through the opening week of the General Assembly in order to obtain former Gov. John J. Gilligan's signature before he left office.

Republicans contend the measure was merely a device by Democrats to save jobs for employees who might be dismissed under a Republican administration.

Supporters argued that the treasurer, Democrat Gertrude

Donahey who collects all other state taxes, was the logical person to receive income tax payments which she ultimately must deposit.

Collins said about 51 employees, earning a total of $538,000 annually, would move over to Mrs. Donahey's office if the bill became law.

Collins, who served as deputy tax commissioner during Gov. James A. Rhodes' previous administration, is expected to be approved by the committee.

We were told recently to pick-up bus freight orders in Chillicothe instead of the Circleville terminal. Asking why, we were told that Circleville no longer has a station. Is that true?

Larry Cupp, former licensed ticket agent for Greyhound Bus Lines in Circleville, cited poor service on the part of the bus line as the primary reason for terminating his ticketing contract with the company April 9.

He said bad management procedures by Greyhound caused him considerable embarrassment with his customers and coupled with a lack of sufficient income for his services to create an unsatisfactory arrangement.

The buses will continue their original schedule of passenger service in Circleville, according to Vincent Riley, Greyhound district manager, until another ticketing agency can be located.

He currently has a marketing agent in Circleville attempting to contract for a ticket agent.

Persons wishing to ride the buses must call the Columbus office for the time schedule. However, the buses will not stop at a specific corner in town. Persons wishing to ride must flag them down and have the correct change to pay the driver.

"We sincerely would like to do the best job we can in Circleville," Riley said, adding that licensing agents are not required to remain with the company.

"If they (the licensing agents) don't want to extend a public service, we certainly can't force them."

Greyhound assumed the Circleville route last August from the Lake Shore System and Cupp contracted to be the local agent to continue the arrangement he had established with Lake Shore. Authorized agency was his service station at the corner of N. Court and Watt Sts.

He worked on a commission basis to sell tickets and make information available on the bus schedules.

However, according to Cupp, the buses failed to operate on the posted schedule at times.

In the week before he relinquished his agency, the afternoon buses to Columbus failed to arrive on two different occasions, he said.

He said on one occasion the bus arrived three hours late after he had refunded money for ticket sales.

Cupp also said that some of the drivers of the route are inconsiderate. He frequently had to load and unload freight, a job that is supposed to be handled by the driver.

On one occasion, the bus pulled away while he was halfway in the loading compartment, and on another, the driver tossed a package from the bus to the station office, Cupp said.

Passengers received no better treatment, according to Cupp.

He said, besides not keeping their regular schedule, the drivers rarely helped people onto the bus. Once, the driver pulled away from the curb while passengers were running to board.

Cupp apparently warned all the freight customers that he was quitting the business. He said freight from Columbus usually took about three days anyway, being shipped to Chillicothe and then back to Circleville.

The business was not profitable, he said. Lake Shore paid his bond and telephone and furnished a ticket imprinter, things he had to contract for with Greyhound.

Cupp thinks a lack of communication is the company's biggest problem. They did not notify him that service was cancelled when the drivers' union went on two strikes and did not always follow the printed schedule, irritating passengers.

9,000 Miners Off In Work Dispute

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — All deep coal mines in eastern Ohio and northern West Virginia were closed Wednesday, idling an estimated 9,000 miners, according to coal company officials and the United Mine Workers District 6 office.

According to Dick Wayt, UMW Division 4 board member, miners stayed away from work because of acts of violence and threats from unknown sources.

While they were off the job, the miners marched on welfare offices in Wheeling and Moundsville, W. Va., and Bellaire and St. Clairsville, Ohio.

But a Consolidation Coal Co. official denied that any acts of violence had taken place on Consolidation property, although he said there had been some vandalism.

At least four UMW locals had scheduled special meetings of their memberships, but declined to comment on the matters to be discussed.

Members of UMW Local 5497 were warned by local President Lloyd Burian to stay away from North American Coal Co.'s Powhatan No. 1 mine because of "threats of bodily harm and damage to our property."

Burian would not disclose the nature of those threats to news media.

Meanwhile, UMW District 6 officials were reportedly in Washington meeting with officials of Consolidation Coal Co. in an attempt to resolve the latest series of disputes that began in early March.

Consolidation's Central Division office said it would hold a press conference to "set the record straight for the media."

According to a Consolidation spokesman, the company would stress that 26 miners suspended for alleged illegal picketing activities have not been discharged, contrary to published reports.

Besides North American and Consolidation, other companies affected by the massive shutdown include Quarto Mining Co., Pittston Coal Co., Valley Camp Coal Co., and Windsor Power Co.

Ocasek Plans Vote Against Peltier Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, plans to cast his vote against the nomination of J. Gordon Peltier as state commerce director, he told The Associated Press Wednesday night. But he said the other members of the 21-member majority caucus are "free people" and that he thinks the vote will be close. "It could go either way by one or two votes," he said.

The majority leader said he did not take a vote count during a party dinner caucus earlier Wednesday night but that three Democrats told him they still are undecided about the appointment of the 57-year-old Columbus attorney by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The Senate Elections, Financial Institutions, and Insurance Committee voted 6-3 along party lines last week to reject the appointment—in part because Peltier admitted during hearings that he took his own real estate broker's examination and obtained a license before leaving as commerce director in January 1971.

Peltier was head of the department for more than seven years during Rhodes' two previous terms as governor.

Ocasek said he read the transcripts from Peltier's two hearings before the committee and thought the testimony was "very damaging, especially when he admitted he took his own test."

The majority leader said he does not intend to try to persuade other senators to vote as he does when the nomination is brought up on the Senate floor, probably within the next two weeks. "I don't believe in twisting arms and trying to indoctrinate people," he said.

Crime Spree Brings Trial In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—William Rowland Roberts, who was sought late last year for a string of crimes across 10 states, was scheduled to go on trial today in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

He faces charges of aggravated murder in connection with the kidnapping of a 71-year-old Cincinnati man, Henry Reed, in August.

A four-man, seven women jury selected Wednesday was to hear opening arguments.

Roberts, a native of Covington, Ky., was also sought in connection with the death of a priest in North Carolina, for kidnappings in West Virginia and robbery of ministers in Utah and Arkansas.

He and a Billings, Mont., housewife were objects of a nationwide search. Roberts, 37, was arrested at a Portland, Ore., hospital after being admitted for chest pains.

Roberts was out on parole from a federal penitentiary in Missouri at the time of the alleged crime spree.

Patricia Ramey told authorities she was abducted by Roberts and forced to travel with him during the months of July, August and September. She was found unharmed in Alabama a short time before Roberts' arrest.

It was not known if she would appear as a witness in Roberts' trial.

Reed and his wife, Norma, 42, were allegedly abducted from a fishing ground near Rising Sun, Ind., Aug. 5. Reed was later found strangled and his wife severely beaten.

Dayan Still Sees Accord

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan appeared in suburban Parma Wednesday night and said the breakdown of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East has been exaggerated in the United States.

Speaking at Cuyahoga Community College West, Dayan said agreement can still be reached between Israel and Egypt to avoid a chance of war this summer.

He noted that after the negotiations broke down, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat pledged to open the Suez Canal after June 5 and suggested reconvening the Geneva conference.

"Which is not bad news," Dayan said. If the canal is opened, he said, and one million Egyptians return to their homes and industries only 20 kilometers from Israeli artillery, "it will have more value than an agreement on paper."

Tonight Dayan speaks at Denison University.

The Public Investigator

We were told recently to pick-up bus freight orders in Chillicothe instead of the Circleville terminal. Asking why, we were told that Circleville no longer has a station. Is that true?

Larry Cupp, former licensed ticket agent for Greyhound Bus Lines in Circleville, cited poor service on the part of the bus line as the primary reason for terminating his ticketing contract with the company April 9.

He said bad management procedures by Greyhound caused him considerable embarrassment with his customers and coupled with a lack of sufficient income for his services to create an unsatisfactory arrangement.

The buses will continue their original schedule of passenger service in Circleville, according to Vincent Riley, Greyhound district manager, until another ticketing agency can be located.

He currently has a marketing agent in Circleville attempting to contract for a ticket agent.

Persons wishing to ride the buses must call the Columbus office for the time schedule. However, the buses will not stop at a specific corner in town. Persons wishing to ride must flag them down and have the correct change to pay the driver.

"We sincerely would like to do the best job we can in Circleville," Riley said, adding that licensing agents are not required to remain with the company.

"If they (the licensing agents) don't want to extend a public service, we certainly can't force them."

Greyhound assumed the Circleville route last August from the Lake Shore System and Cupp contracted to be the local agent to continue the arrangement he had established with Lake Shore. Authorized agency was his service station at the corner of N. Court and Watt Sts.

He worked on a commission basis to sell tickets and make information available on the bus schedules.

However, according to Cupp, the buses failed to operate on the posted schedule at times.

In the week before he relinquished his agency, the afternoon buses to Columbus failed to arrive on two different occasions, he said.

He said on one occasion the bus arrived three hours late after he had refunded money for ticket sales.

Cupp also said that some of the drivers of the route are inconsiderate. He frequently had to load and unload freight, a job that is supposed to be handled by the driver.

On one occasion, the bus pulled away while he was halfway in the loading compartment, and on another, the driver tossed a package from the bus to the station office, Cupp said.

Passengers received no better treatment, according to Cupp.

He said, besides not keeping their regular schedule, the drivers rarely helped people onto the bus. Once, the driver pulled away from the curb while passengers were running to board.

Cupp apparently warned all the freight customers that he was quitting the business. He said freight from Columbus usually took about three days anyway, being shipped to Chillicothe and then back to Circleville.

The business was not profitable, he said. Lake Shore paid his bond and telephone and furnished a ticket imprinter, things he had to contract for with Greyhound.

Cupp thinks a lack of communication is the company's biggest problem. They did not notify him that service was cancelled when the drivers' union went on two strikes and did not always follow the printed schedule, irritating passengers.

9,000 Miners Off In Work Dispute

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — All deep coal mines in eastern Ohio and northern West Virginia were closed Wednesday, idling an estimated 9,000 miners, according to coal company officials and the United Mine Workers District 6 office.

According to Dick Wayt, UMW Division 4 board member, miners stayed away from work because of acts of violence and threats from unknown sources.

While they were off the job, the miners marched on welfare offices in Wheeling and Moundsville, W. Va., and Bellaire and St. Clairsville, Ohio.

But a Consolidation Coal Co. official denied that any acts of violence had taken place on Condoliation property, although he said there had been some vandalism.

At least four UMW locals had scheduled special meetings of their memberships, but declined to comment on the matters to be discussed.

Members of UMW Local 5497 were warned by local President Lloyd Burian to stay away from North American Coal Co.'s Powhatan No. 1 mine because of "threats of bodily harm and damage to our property."

Burian would not disclose the nature of those threats to news media.

Meanwhile, UMW District 6 officials were reportedly in Washington meeting with officials of Consolidation Coal Co. in an attempt to resolve the latest series of disputes that began in early March.

Consolidation's Central Division office said it would hold a press conference to "set the record straight for the media."

According to a Consolidation spokesman, the company would stress that 26 miners suspended for alleged illegal picketing activities have not been discharged, contrary to published reports.

Besides North American and Consolidation, other companies affected by the massive shutdown include Quarto Mining Co., Pittston Coal Co., Valley Camp Coal Co., and Windsor Power Co.

Ocasek Plans Vote Against Peltier Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, plans to cast his vote against the nomination of J. Gordon Peltier as state commerce director, he told The Associated Press Wednesday night. But he said the other members of the 21-member majority caucus are "free people" and that he thinks the vote will be close. "It could go either way by one or two votes," he said.

The majority leader said he did not take a vote count during a party dinner caucus earlier Wednesday night but that three Democrats told him they still are undecided about the appointment of the 57-year-old Columbus attorney by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The Senate Elections, Financial Institutions, and Insurance Committee voted 6-3 along party lines last week to reject the appointment—in part because Peltier admitted during hearings that he took his own real estate broker's examination and obtained a license before leaving as commerce director in January 1971.

Peltier was head of the department for more than seven years during Rhodes' two previous terms as governor.

Ocasek said he read the transcripts from Peltier's two hearings before the committee and thought the testimony was "very damaging, especially when he admitted he took his own test."

The majority leader said he does not intend to try to persuade other senators to vote as he does when the nomination is brought up on the Senate floor, probably within the next two weeks. "I don't believe in twisting arms and trying to indoctrinate people," he said.

Crime Spree Brings Trial In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—William Rowland Roberts, who was sought late last year for a string of crimes across 10 states, was scheduled to go on trial today in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

He faces charges of aggravated murder in connection with the kidnapping of a 71-year-old Cincinnati man, Henry Reed, in August.

A four-man, seven women jury selected Wednesday was to hear opening arguments.

Roberts, a native of Covington, Ky., was also sought in connection with the death of a priest in North Carolina, for kidnappings in West Virginia and robbery of ministers in Utah and Arkansas.

He and a Billings, Mont., housewife were objects of a nationwide search. Roberts, 37, was arrested at a Portland, Ore., hospital after being admitted for chest pains.

Roberts was out on parole from a federal penitentiary in Missouri at the time of the alleged crime spree.

Patricia Ramey told authorities she was abducted by Roberts and forced to travel with him during the months of July, August and September. She was found unharmed in Alabama a short time before Roberts' arrest.

It was not known if she would appear as a witness in Roberts' trial.

Reed and his wife, Norma, 42, were allegedly abducted from a fishing ground near Rising Sun, Ind., Aug. 5. Reed was later found strangled and his wife severely beaten.

Dayan Still Sees Accord

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan appeared in suburban Parma Wednesday night and said the breakdown of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East has been exaggerated in the United States.

Speaking at Cuyahoga Community College West, Dayan said agreement can still be reached between Israel and Egypt to avoid a chance of war this summer.

He noted that after the negotiations broke down, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat pledged to open the Suez Canal after June 5 and suggested reconvening the Geneva conference.

"Which is not bad news," Dayan said. If the canal is opened, he said, and one million Egyptians return to their homes and industries only 20 kilometers from Israeli artillery, "it will have more value than an agreement on paper."

Tonight Dayan speaks at Denison University.

Beef Feeding Not Wasteful?

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department economist says there has been much public misconception about beef production, including claims that cattle operations waste food which could be consumed by needy people.

James E. Nix, a commodity analyst in the department's Economic Research Service, says part of the misunderstanding involves the number of cattle which actually are fed grain.

Last Jan. 1 an estimated 10.2 million cattle were in feedlots, meaning they were being fattened on grain-based rations for slaughter at a later date. Those represented only nine per cent of the total U.S. beef cattle inventory of 116.5 million head, Nix said.

Over 70 per cent of slaughtered cattle were grain fed for several years prior to 1974," Nix said. But this has recently dropped to around 60 per cent, he said.

Nix said another misconception has been the amount of grain required to produce one pound of retail beef, with some figures claiming that up to 10 pounds of grain are used to produce one pound of meat.

"This is a gross overestimate of the grain actually fed," Nix said Tuesday in a report on the livestock and meat situation published by his agency.

"It is likely that roughages (from hay and other plant sources) accounted for almost all of the ration prior to placement in the feedlot," he said.

Moreover, he said, grain makes up only about 65 per cent of the feedlot ration, with the rest coming from other sources, mostly roughages.

Thus, about 6.5 pounds of grain is used to produce each pound of the 450-pound weight gain of the steer while it is in the feedlot. The gain is based on a steer entering a feedlot at 600 pounds and then sold for slaughter at 1,050 pounds, Nix said.

Hogs, which feed primarily on grain from the time they are weaned, consume almost as much as beef cattle although their numbers are only 60 per cent of the cattle inventory, Nix said.

Translated into retail cuts, Nix said grain consumption figures for 1973-74 showed that it took an average of 5.6 pounds of grain to produce one pound of beef for consumers while 8.4 pounds were required for each pound of pork.

The figures, he said, show that "the amount of grain consumed per pound of beef produced is much less than that which is often quoted" and that cattle need less than hogs because they can grow to most of their weight by eating roughages.

"These roughages, which cattle can convert to food for humans, are inedible by humans," Nix said. "If not utilized by cattle, most of these roughages — which produce millions of pounds of meat — would be wasted."

Deadline Near For VA Insurance

Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer James P. Shea has issued a reminder to veterans who served in military service on and after April 3, 1970 and before August 1, 1974, that they have until August 1, 1975 to apply for low-cost group life insurance from the Veterans Administration.

Veterans Group Life Insurance is available in increments of $5,000 to a maximum of $20,000. For those age 34 and under, the monthly premiums are 85 cents for $5,000; $1.70 for $10,000; $2.55 for $15,000 and $3.40 for $20,000 insurance coverage.

For those aged 35 and over, the premium for the same amounts of coverage are $1.70; $3.40; $5.10; and $6.80 respectively.

Applications are available in the Pickaway County Veterans Service Office, Room 21, in the basement of the Court House, and those eligible veterans should seriously review their insurance needs for the protection of their families, and make application now for this low cost policy.

It must be remembered that this insurance has no loan, cash, paid-up or extended insurance value, and the insured will be covered for a period of five years less the time elapsing between the termination of the applicant's Servicemen's Government Life Insurance coverage and August 1, 1974, the date Veterans Government Life Insurance became effective. At the end of this five year period the insured may convert to an individual policy with one of the many participating commercial insurance companies at standard rates, regardless of health.

Indiana Pacers Top Spurs, 115-100

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Winning playoff games should be old hat to the three-time American Basketball Association champion Indiana Pacers, but Wednesday night's 115-100 victory over the San Antonio Spurs was something to savor.

This was to be a rebuilding year for Indiana after a housecleaning of aging veterans. And, after finishing a distant third in the ABA West, the experts didn't give the young Pacers much of a chance against the menacing second-place Spurs.

But Indiana, with two rookies starting, beat the Spurs the first two games in San Antonio, grabbed a 3-0 series lead and finally finished off the visitors in six games.

Now Indiana is faced with the prospect of an even tougher series against Denver, the team with the best record in professional basketball this season. They'll begin Sunday at Denver, where the Nuggets are 40-2 this season.

The other semifinal series between Kentucky and St. Louis gets under way Monday night in Louisville.

The main reasons the Pacers will be able to make the trip to Denver are a pair of players with styles as different as night and day — bullish George McGinnis and glass-smooth Billy Knight.

McGinnis, a 6-foot-8 veteran forward and an ABA superstar, did what was expected of him in the crucial game. He scored 32 points, pulled down 23 rebounds and handed out a career record 14 assists.

Knight, a 6-7 rookie forward, showed his constant cool with 33 points and 11 rebounds. And 14 of those points came in the second period when the Pacers turned a one-point deficit into a 14-point lead that never shrank below 10 the rest of the way.

As the champagne corks and beer tabs popped and the shouts of glee echoed in their spacious Market Square Arena dressing room, the Pacers enjoyed their victory as though they themselves hadn't been confident it would happen.

"They double-teamed and even triple-teamed George (McGinnis)," the slim, good looking Knight said with a happy smile. "So, when they do that, George looks for me."

"He gets the assists, anyway," Knight said with a laugh.

Crusaders Fall Behind

HOUSTON (AP) — The Cleveland Crusaders haven't been very good gamblers in their World Hockey Association playoff series with the Houston Aeros, which resumes tonight in Sam Houston Coliseum.

The Aeros, defending WHA champions, have a 3-1 lead in the best of seven series and in all three victories, Houston has splurged into the lead and forced the Crusaders to play gambling, wide-open catchup.

And the Crusaders have mostly found themselves behind the eight-ball.

"We made the mental mistakes and they took advantage of them," Cleveland Coach Jack Vivian said after Tuesday night's 7-2 Houston victory. "Then we had to try to open the game up in the third period and every time we tried, another mistake, and they'd score."

The Aeros won the first game 8-5 and the second game 5-3 before the Crusaders won the third game 3-1 in Cleveland.

LE Reserves Top Mustangs, 7-4

A fine pitching performance by Mike Johnston led Logan Elm to a 7-4 win over Westfall in a reserve battle Wednesday at the Mustangs field.

Johnston scattered two hits, walked two and fanned 14. He also aided his cause with a single.

Randy Adams went all the way for Westfall, allowing six hits, seven walks and striking out six.

Eric Maxson slammed a triple and single, John Mettler rapped a pair of singles and Jerry Scanlon connected for a one-bagger.

Dave Clem had both hits for Westfall, a triple and single. Westfall had six errors and Logan Elm had one.

Logan Elm is now 5-0 and will be at Liberty Union 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

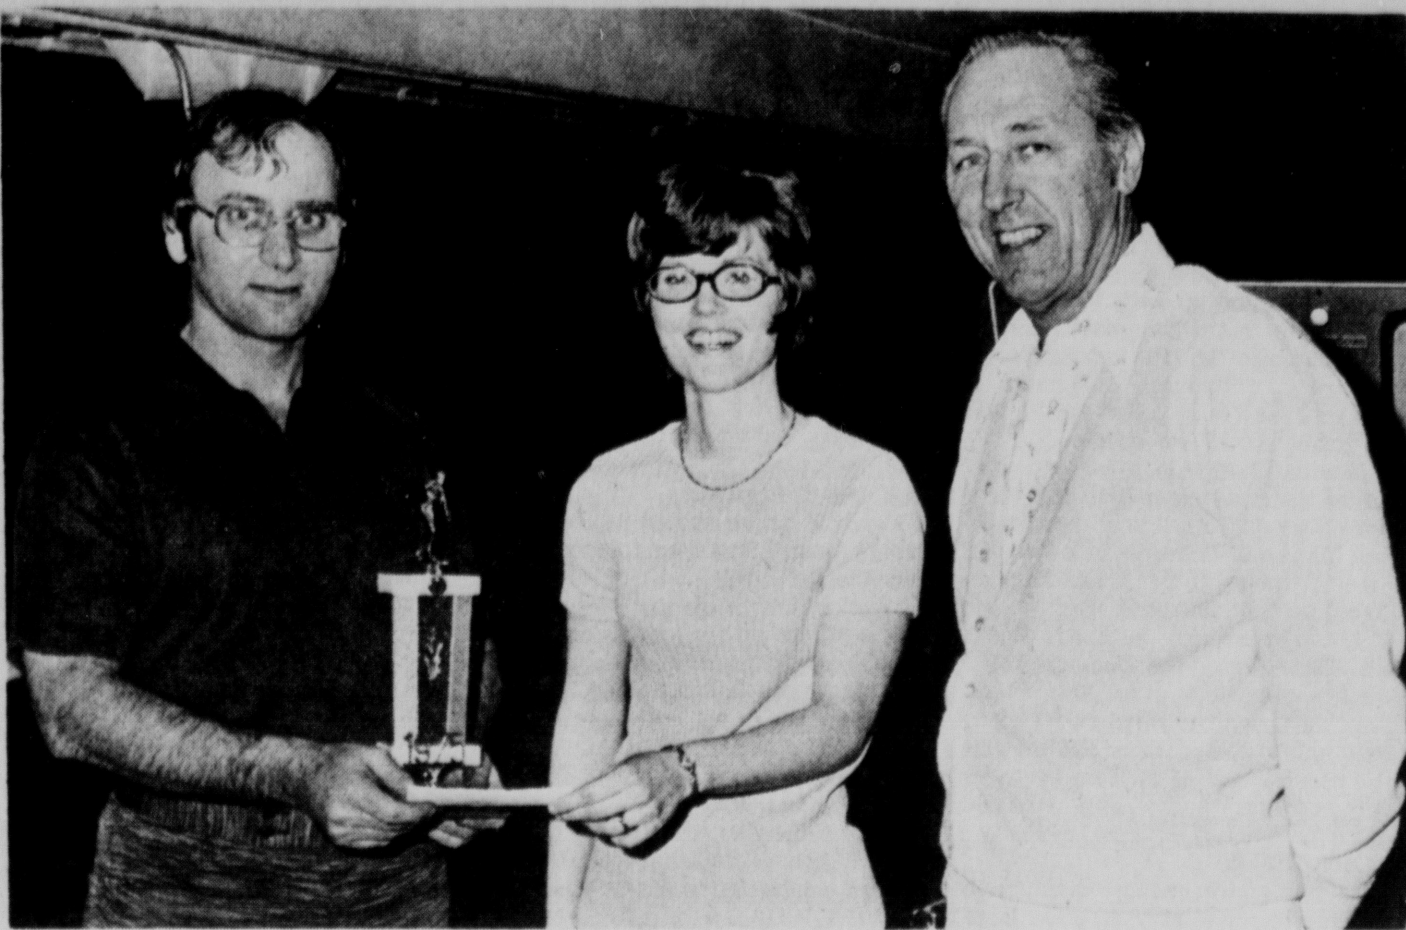

McGowan Sets ONU Track Record

Circleville's Matt McGowan broke the Ohio Northern University record for the 3-mile in a tri meet with Findlay and Taylor of Indiana.

The old mark was 14:59 and Matt toured the course in 14:45. He placed second as the winning time was 14:43.7.

This time qualifies Matt for the Ohio Athletic Conference Meet May 9-10 at Baldwin Wallace.

Pitcher Fergy Jenkins of the Texas Rangers began pitching in organized baseball in 1962 as the property of the Philadelphia Phillies.

CHAMPION—Mrs. Holly Gifford accepts a trophy and check from Circle D manager Proprietor's Association. With them is Jim Larry Dietrich for winning divisional Culver, manager of Valley Bowl Lanes, championship in the Heart Fund Tournament Newark, where the tournament was held.

Mrs. Gifford Wins Heart Fund Bowling Tournament

Mrs. Holly Gifford, Route 1, Kingston, rolled her way to a divisional championship in the Southeastern Ohio Bowling Proprietor's Association Heart Fund finals April 5 and 6 at Valley Bowl Lanes in Newark.

Mrs. Gifford accomplished several personal "firsts" in beating out 142 bowlers from 19 southern Ohio counties for the 140-and-under championship.

In her first year of bowling, she bested her average by 170 pins and rolled her first 500 series.

Mrs. Gifford won her class championship at Circle D Lanes in November and then competed against the top bowlers from every bowling establishment in the district for the title.

She rolled a 162, 174, 176 for a 512 series.

For her efforts, she won a trophy and a $50 check from the tournament.

The first-year bowler is the wife of Edward Gifford, a non-bowler. They have a 17-month-old child, Dirk.

"I just liked the lanes at Newark," she said in describing her victory. She said she didn't practice for the event, but took one lesson from Circle D manager Larry Dietrich.

"I just kept remembering what he told me," she said.

Mrs. Gifford bowls regularly in the Wednesday morning ladies' league at Circle D where she has raised her average from 104 to 121 since the beginning of the year.

Her highest single game is 193.

Westfall Nine Nips Miami Trace, 7-6

Chris Riddle scattered seven hits and continually hurled himself out of trouble to lead Westfall to a 7-6 win over Miami Trace Wednesday on the loser's field.

Westfall committed eight errors in the contest while Trace booted the ball four times.

Riddle walked five and struck out two as he went the distance.

Foster and Calkins shared mound duties for the Panthers. They gave up a total of 10 hits, fanned seven and didn't issue a free pass.

Trace opened the scoring with three runs in the bottom of the first but Westfall cut the margin with a pair of markers in the top of the second.

The Mustangs broke loose for four runs in the fourth inning to grab the lead and Trace pushed a single tally across the plate in the bottom of the frame. The big blow for Westfall in the inning was a three-run homer by Craig Moore.

Westfall pushed across a single run in the fifth which turned out to be the margin of victory as the Panthers scored twice in the bottom of the seventh.

Moore led the Westfall guns with his homer and single, Riddle and Terry Hanson each had a pair of singles while Tony Mosley, Bill Hamman, Mack Dick and Kevin Reid each had a one-bagger. Conner had a four-bagger for Trace.

Westfall is now 4-8 on the season and 2-1 in the Scioto Valley Conference. They will host Adena 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Girls Softball Holds Registration

A softball league for girls between the ages of nine and 14 is being formed in Circleville. All girls in Circleville and Pickaway County are eligible to participate in the league.

The first registration of players will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Ted Lewis Park. Each girl must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and have her birth certificate. She must be nine years of age by May 1 and not over 14 by August 15.

Another registration will be held on April 26 at the same time and place.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. James Ballou, 474-7176 or Mrs. D. N. McColister, 474-7335.

CHS Loses To Unioto

Circleville and Unioto battled for nine innings Wednesday before the Shermans pushed across a single tally to nip the Tigers, 5-4, on the local diamond.

Unioto scored three unearned runs in the first inning to put the Tigers in the hole. But Circleville battled back to tally three times in the fourth to knot the count. The big blow in the inning was a smashing double by Jerry Strawser.

Unioto pushed across a lone marker in the top of the sixth but the Tigers plated a single run in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

Phil Roll went all the way for the Tigers and turned in his best performance of the year as he scattered six hits.

Unioto's ace, Jeff Throckmorton, handled the mound duties for the Shermans. The Tiger bats ripped him for nine hits.

Brent Mancini, Biff Bumgarner and Jerry Strawser each had two hits for the Tigers while Randy Thomas, Tim McNaughton and Dave Bevan each had one safety.

Circleville committed two errors in the game and Unioto misplayed the ball once.

The Tigers are now 2-5 for the season and will be at Washington C. H. 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Tiger Netmen Win Match

Circleville's tennis team traveled to Wilmington Wednesday and downed the Hurricane, 3-2.

Mike Sparks (No. 1) lost to Jim Hill, 6-4, 6-7, 7-5. Dave Crawford (No. 2) beat Bob Likens, 6-3, 6-3. Jeff Williams (No. 3) beat John McMullen, 6-1, 6-3.

Dennis Crist and John Hamm (No. 1) lost to Bruce Henman and Tom Storer, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3. Jon Berlin and Tom McCain (No. 2) beat Jeff Kersey and Rick Godlove, 6-3, 6-1.

The Tigers are now 1-1 for the season and will host Lancaster 10 a.m. Saturday.

'Grand Slam' Back In Golf Vocabularies

AKRON — The term Grand Slam is back in golfing vocabularies for 1975.

It applies to Jack Nicklaus, who fought off threats from Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller over the final four holes to claim his fifth Masters title at Augusta, Ga., last week.

The long road to the four major championships ends here, Aug. 4-10, with the playing of the 57th PGA Championship at the Firestone Country Club.

In between, Nicklaus will take his quest to the U.S. Open, which is set for June 19-22 at Medinah Country Club in Chicago, and to Carnoustie, Scotland, for the British Open, July 9-12.

Winning the first leg of the Grand Slam at Augusta is nothing new for Nicklaus. He has done it four times prior to this year.

But only once — in 1972 — has he gotten past the U.S. Open after winning the Masters as well, and then only to have Lee Trevino end his bid in the British Open at Muirfield with some miraculous chipping as Nicklaus finished second.

This time the stage is set differently. Trevino is not the defending champion in the British Open as he was in 1972. This time the Merry Mexican will be defending the PGA title he won last year at Tanglewood.

And if Nicklaus can clear the U.S. Open hurdle at Medinah, he will have familiarity and good playing records going for him over the final two legs of the Grand Slam.

He finished second to Gary Player in the 1968 British Open at Carnoustie, and he is intimately familiar with Firestone's South Course, where the PGA Championship is being contested for the third time.

Although the Golden Bear finished in a tie for 22nd in his 1966 PGA start here, he has been a winner at Firestone five times, including four decisions in the World Series of Golf plus the 1968 American Golf Classic.

Overall, Nicklaus has earned $329,930 in 21 events here, and he has averaged a very respectable 71.01 strokes per round over the 7,180-yard, par 70 track.

He will, of course, be here for the World Series of Golf in September as well as the 57th PGA event in August.

Season and exchangeable coupon ticket packages for the PGA are available at a discount until April 30.

Fans may contact the 57th PGA Championship Office for tickets and ticket information by telephone at (216) 253-1975. The mailing address is: 57th PGA Championship, P.O. Box 1975, Akron, Ohio 44309.

Jimmy Wynn was almost apologetic. It was as if he were saying he just couldn't help himself.

"I was just trying to meet the ball. I wasn't trying for a home run," he insisted. "Seldom do I ever go up there swinging for a home run."

"But it did enter my mind that a grand slam would tie the game," he added with what amounted to a sheepish grin.

So with the Los Angeles Dodgers trailing Cincinnati 6-2 in the bottom of the seventh inning, he swung — just trying to meet the ball. The next person who met it was sitting somewhere out in the left field stands.

"There was no doubt about it when I hit it," he said of the bases-loaded blast that vaulted the Dodgers into a 6-6 tie.

He had a chance to duplicate his heroics with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the ninth — but all he could do this time was foul out weakly.

Kansas City Topples Oakland

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Harmon Killebrew is alive and well in Kansas City. Hank Aaron seems to have taken a turn for the worse in Milwaukee.

Killebrew showed Wednesday night that he can still hit them out with a home run that helped his new team beat the Oakland A's 6-2.

Aaron, another slugger who's wearing a different baseball uniform this season, continued to wear a collar as well and as a result, the Brewers lost a 2-0 decision to the Baltimore Orioles.

Killebrew, who hit 559 home runs in a distinctive career with the Minnesota Twins, smashed No. 560 off Vida Blue to get the Royals started Wednesday night. The "Killer" then was in the middle of a three-run rally in the fourth inning, scoring one of the Kansas City runs after leading off with a walk.

Killebrew's homer gave him his third extra-base hit of the season so far in seven games.

"I hit that ball real good," Killebrew said of his second-inning homer that tied the score at 1-1. "And I got two bases on balls. I'm a base on balls hitter. The home run tied the game so it meant something; so many of them

So Steve Garvey got him off the hook — and gave the Dodgers a 7-6 triumph over the Reds — with a line-drive single to center off Clay Carroll. Mike Marshall wound up with the victory.

In the rest of the National League it was Chicago 9, Philadelphia 3; Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 0; Atlanta 5, Houston 2; St. Louis 3, New York 2, and San Francisco 7, San Diego 1.

Cincinnati had built a 5-0 lead with four of the runs coming in the third inning, two on Tony Perez' homer off Juan Marichal. Ron Cey hit a two-run homer in the fourth to get Los Angeles started on the comeback trail.

"It's a brand-new season," Wynn said, reflecting on the Dodgers' third straight victory over the Reds following their three straight losses in Cincinnati at the start of the season. "It's new for both of us. Tomorrow we start another game and another season."

Cubs 9, Phils 3

The Cubs, recording their fifth straight victory to stay atop the East Division, pummeled Steve Carlton with seven hits for six runs in two innings en route to their romp.

Don Kessinger's triple and singles by Bill Madlock, Jerry Morales, George Mitterwald and Rick Monday started the first-inning carnage, producing the first two runs. Then Manny Trillo pounded a Carlton fast-ball over the left field wall for three runs and a 5-0 lead.

Expos 5, Pirates 0

Woody Fryman hurled a five-hitter to lead Montreal past his former Pittsburgh teammates.

"You're not going to stop these Pirate hitters but you can slow them down, and that's what Woody did," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch. "He'll pitch against Pittsburgh next week in Montreal."

Braves 5, Astros 2

Buzz Capra's six-hitter, Dusty Baker's homer and Larvell Blanks' two-run single led Atlanta past the Astros.

Bob Watson spoiled Capra's shutout

bid with a two-run homer in the ninth. Capra zipped through the game in a speedy hour and 50 minutes. "My wife had a meatloaf in the stove and I had to get home," he grinned.

Cards 3, Mets 2

Second baseman Felix Millan's error paved the way to three runs in the fifth inning that enabled the Cards to edge the Mets.

St. Louis had been checked on two singles by Jon Matlack before Ken Reitz led off the fifth with a single and moved to second when Millan made a wide throw to first with Keith Hernandez' grounder. Ed Brinkman singled for one run, Hernandez appeared to be picked off second but scored when Bud Harrelson made a wild throw in the rundown, then Lou Brock singled for what proved to be the winning run.

Giants 7, Padres 1

Bobby Murcer's two-run triple highlighted the five-run fifth inning that swept San Francisco past the Padres, whose only run off John D'Acquisto came on Mike Ivie's seventh-inning homer.

Steve Ontiveros' double and Dave Rader's single started the Giants' outburst against Dan Spillner. D'Acquisto walked to load the bases, Von Joshua hit a sacrifice fly, Murcer tripled to make it 3-0 and two more runs came in when reliever Rich Folkers threw a wild pitch and catcher Randy Hundley threw wildly back to the plate. Murcer also singled for a run in the eighth.

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Toros-San Diego Mariners playoff series has come down to a contest of which club can solve its problem of inconsistency first.

The Toros emerged with a 6-5 victory Wednesday night, tying their World Hockey Association best-of-seven quarter-final at two victories each.

The fifth game is set for San Diego on Friday and the sixth here on Monday.

Elsewhere, playoff action continues tonight with the Quebec Nordiques and Houston Aeros both looking to wrap up their respective series.

The Nordiques lead the Phoenix Roadrunners 3-1 going into tonight's sixth game at Quebec while Houston leads the Cleveland Crusaders 3-1 with the fifth game tonight at Houston.

The New England Whalers-Minnesota Fighting Saints matchup is tied 2-2 going into Friday's fifth game at New England.

Each club admitted to playing only one good period of hockey Wednesday. For the Mariners, it was the first period when they took a 1-0 lead on Norm Ferguson's fourth goal of the playoffs and extended the lead to 2-0 on Mike Laughton's first of two for the night early in the second period.

For the Toros, it was the second period when they stormed back with four goals before dropping their defenses again in the final session.

don't. It was my first homer for Kansas City — and that meant something too."

By contrast, Aaron has been having his problems adjusting to the American League after collecting a record 733 homers in his golden National League career.

Aaron was hitless in two official appearances against Mike Cuellar Wednesday night and had his no-hit string extended to 12 by the crafty Baltimore left-hander. The one-time Atlanta Braves great has had but two hits in 19 at-bats with the Brewers, none of them homers.

In other American League action, the Boston Red Sox whipped the New York Yankees 4-2; the Minnesota Twins routed the California Angels 10-4 and the Texas Rangers blasted the Chicago White Sox 14-4.

Along with Killebrew's hitting, the Royals also had Nelson Briles' pitching. Briles scattered five hits in one of his best performances with the Royals.

Briles allowed only two hits after the third inning, Sal Bando's double in the sixth and Claudell Washington's homer in the eighth.

Amos Otis singled for the Royals with two out in the third, stole second and scored on John Mayberry's single, putting the Royals ahead 2-1. Kansas City broke the game open in the fourth with a three-run outburst against Blue, 2-1.

Killebrew led off the inning with a walk and George Brett and Cookie Rojas followed with singles. Jim Wohlford's sacrifice fly scored Killebrew, and Brett ran home on a squeeze bunt by Buck Martinez. Frank White singled, scoring Rojas. Hal McRae's bases-loaded sacrifice fly scored the Royals' final run in the sixth.

Bando homered for Oakland in the first. It was his second of the year.

Orioles 2, Brewers 0

Mike Cuellar pitched a threehitter, Don Baylor singled in the only run he needed and Elrod Hendricks hit a home run to lead Baltimore over Milwaukee.

Cuellar limited the Brewers to Pedro Garcia's third-inning single, Charlie Moore's double in the eighth and George Scott's ninth-inning single, struck out five batters and walked four. Ken Singleton walked in the sixth inning and was bunted to second by Paul Blair before Baylor lashed his run-scoring single to center off Jim Slaton, 1-2. Hendricks hit his homer, his first hit of the season, in the seventh.

Red Sox 4, Yanks 2

Boston's Rick Wise scattered nine hits and struck out five Yanks en route to his first complete game since April 13, 1974.

All the Boston runs off Pat Dobson and reliever Larry Gura came on homers, a two-run shot by Carl Yastrzemski and a pair of solo jobs by rookie Fred Lynn. Walt Williams homered for the Yanks.

Wise was hampered last year by a sore shoulder and a broken finger. "The shoulder's still not 100 per cent. It's still a little weak," said Wise. "This is the culmination of a lot of hard work, starting last year."

Twins 10, Angels 4

Two-run doubles by Bobby Darwin, Craig Kusick and Larry Hisle helped Minnesota snap a five-game losing streak. Minnesota's Bert Blyleven survived a shaky start and scattered 10 hits to win his second game in as many decisions.

Rangers 14, White Sox

Willie Davis and Jeff Burroughs hit home runs and drove in three runs apiece, leading Texas over Chicago. Chicago starter Wilbur Wood was touched for three unearned runs, two driven across on Toby Harrah's double, in the first inning. He then was chased in a five-run Texas third. It was his third straight loss.

Kepler Golf Tourney Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion and host Ohio State and perennial Big Ten power Indiana will lead a 24-team field in the Kepler Invitational golf tournament this weekend.

The 54-hole event begins Friday and extends through Sunday over the rugged Ohio State Scarlet layout, playing to 7,000 yards and par of 72.

Canadian Paul Davis of Ohio State, the 1974 medalist, returns. Davis carded a 13-over-par 229 for the individual title last year.

Ohio State and Indiana each have won the team title three times in the six-year-old tournament.

Other Big Ten schools competing are Michigan, Michigan State, Purdue, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois of the Big Ten, Ball State, Toledo, Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Bowling Green, Miami (Ohio), Ohio University, Kent State and Northern Illinois of the Mid-American, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Illinois State, Marshall, Cincinnati and two Ohio State squads.

The average age for the Masters golf tournament winner is 32.45 years.

Prince Saim, winner of the 1965 Garden State Stakes, is now 12 years old and a stud at Rosemont Farm in Maryland.

Dodgers Trip Reds Again, 7-6

14

The Circleville Herald, Thursday April 17, 1975

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Jimmy Wynn was almost apologetic. It was as if he were saying he just couldn't help himself.

"I was just trying to meet the ball. I wasn't trying for a home run," he insisted. "Seldom do I ever go up there swinging for a home run."

"But it did enter my mind that a grand slam would tie the game," he added with what amounted to a sheepish grin.

So with the Los Angeles Dodgers trailing Cincinnati 6-2 in the bottom of the seventh inning, he swung — just trying to meet the ball. The next person who met it was sitting somewhere out in the left field stands.

"There was no doubt about it when I hit it," he said of the bases-loaded blast that vaulted the Dodgers into a 6-6 tie.

He had a chance to duplicate his heroics with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the ninth — but all he could do this time was foul out weakly.

So Steve Garvey got him off the hook — and gave the Dodgers a 7-6 triumph over the Reds — with a line-drive single to center off Clay Carroll. Mike Marshall wound up with the victory.

In the rest of the National League it was Chicago 9, Philadelphia 3; Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 0; Atlanta 5, Houston 2; St. Louis 3, New York 2, and San Francisco 7, San Diego 1.

Cincinnati had built a 5-0 lead with four of the runs coming in the third inning, two on Tony Perez' homer off Juan Marichal. Ron Cey hit a two-run homer in the fourth to get Los Angeles started on the comeback trail.

"It's a brand-new season," Wynn said, reflecting on the Dodgers' third straight victory over the Reds following their three straight losses in Cincinnati at the start of the season. "It's new for both of us. Tomorrow we start another game and another season."

Cubs 9, Phils 3

The Cubs, recording their fifth straight victory to stay atop the East Division, pummeled Steve Carlton with seven hits for six runs in two innings en route to their romp.

Don Kessinger's triple and singles by Bill Madlock, Jerry Morales, George Mitterwald and Rick Monday started the first-inning carnage, producing the first two runs. Then Manny Trillo pounded a Carlton fast-ball over the left field wall for three runs and a 5-0 lead.

Expos 5, Pirates 0

Woody Fryman hurled a five-hitter to lead Montreal past his former Pittsburgh teammates.

"You're not going to stop these Pirate hitters but you can slow them down, and that's what Woody did," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch. "He'll pitch against Pittsburgh next week in Montreal."

Braves 5, Astros 2

Buzz Capra's six-hitter, Dusty Baker's homer and Larvell Blanks' two-run single led Atlanta past the Astros.

Bob Watson spoiled Capra's shutout

bid with a two-run homer in the ninth. Capra zipped through the game in a speedy hour and 50 minutes. "My wife had a meatloaf in the stove and I had to get home," he grinned.

Cards 3, Mets 2

Second baseman Felix Millan's error paved the way to three runs in the fifth inning that enabled the Cards to edge the Mets.

St. Louis had been checked on two singles by Jon Matlack before Ken Reitz led off the fifth with a single and moved to second when Millan made a wide throw to first with Keith Hernandez' grounder. Ed Brinkman singled for one run, Hernandez appeared to be picked off second but scored when Bud Harrelson made a wild throw in the rundown, then Lou Brock singled for what proved to be the winning run.

Giants 7, Padres 1

Bobby Murcer's two-run triple highlighted the five-run fifth inning that swept San Francisco past the Padres, whose only run off John D'Acquisto came on Mike Ivie's seventh-inning homer.

Steve Ontiveros' double and Dave Rader's single started the Giants' outburst against Dan Spillner. D'Acquisto walked to load the bases, Von Joshua hit a sacrifice fly, Murcer tripled to make it 3-0 and two more runs came in when reliever Rich Folkers threw a wild pitch and catcher Randy Hundley threw wildly back to the plate. Murcer also singled for a run in the eighth.

Kansas City Topples Oakland

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Harmon Killebrew is alive and well in Kansas City. Hank Aaron seems to have taken a turn for the worse in Milwaukee.

Killebrew showed Wednesday night that he can still hit them out with a home run that helped his new team beat the Oakland A's 6-2.

Aaron, another slugger who's wearing a different baseball uniform this season, continued to wear a collar as well and as a result, the Brewers lost a 2-0 decision to the Baltimore Orioles.

Killebrew, who hit 559 home runs in a distinctive career with the Minnesota Twins, smashed No. 560 off Vida Blue to get the Royals started Wednesday night. The "Killer" then was in the middle of a three-run rally in the fourth inning, scoring one of the Kansas City runs after leading off with a walk.

Killebrew's homer gave him his third extra-base hit of the season so far in seven games.

"I hit that ball real good," Killebrew said of his second-inning homer that tied the score at 1-1. "And I got two bases on balls. I'm a base on balls hitter. The home run tied the game so it meant something; so many of them don't. It was my first homer for Kansas City — and that meant something too."

By contrast, Aaron has been having his problems adjusting to the American League after collecting a record 733 homers in his golden National League career.

IRS Turned Over 8,210 Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it gave the complete or partial tax returns of 8,210 citizens or corporations to other federal agencies in 1974.

IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander says the returns were disclosed under regulations allowing federal department heads to obtain the information by certifying it is required for investigative purposes.

Meade Whitaker, the agency's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springtime temperatures were expected to warm Ohio for the next two days.

Afternoon readings were expected to climb into the 50s and 60s.

Some showers and thundershowers were forecast to prevail in the Ohio Valley this morning, but abundant sunshine was expected over the rest of the state.

There was an intensifying spring storm in the west that was expected to move into the upper Great Lakes early Friday.

Showers and thundershowers associated with this spring storm were to enter Ohio tonight and Friday, most likely in the central and southern regions.

Lows tonight were expected to be generally in the 40s and 50s as a blanket of heavy cloudiness covers the entire state.

Temperatures Friday were forecast to continue in the 60s with some 70s likely in the usual warm spots in the state.

Skies were generally clear across most of Ohio last night and early this morning.

The only exception was in the Ohio Valley, where some showers and thundershowers were reported this morning.

A few widely scattered rain showers fell in the northeastern part of Ohio Wednesday evening.

Morning temperatures ranged from the 40s and 50s in the cloudy areas to the 20s and 30s under clear skies.

general counsel, said the returns were provided as a matter of routine in most cases. He said the requesting department heads usually were not required to document their reasons in any substantial form.

Whitaker and Alexander commented on the practice at a budget hearing Wednesday after Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., asked if the two officials were satisfied the confidentiality of tax returns was being safeguarded.

Alexander said such safeguards are made difficult by regulations that provide other agencies with access to the returns.

He said the problem arises from a section of the tax code that declares returns to be public record except for specified instances.

Alexander said the "thrust of the statute needs to be turned around." He said federal policy should be that the returns are confidential except for clearly defined cases in which they might be examined outside the IRS.

After the hearing, the IRS released the number of returns it had given other federal agencies last year and some of the reasons cited by the agencies requesting the information.

An IRS spokesman said 4,448 returns were given U.S. attorneys who were conducting a variety of investigations that did not involve tax litigation.

Another 3,228 went to the Justice Department for reasons that included Watergate, antitrust, and a wide range of criminal investigations.

The Commerce Department received five returns for "integrity investigations" of current or prospective employees.

The other agencies and the number of returns they obtained included the Agriculture Department, five; Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau, two; Customs Service, three; Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., 12; Federal Home Loan Bank Board, 50.

Also, the General Accounting Office, 342; the Interstate Commerce Commission, 9; Labor Department, 2; the Securities and Exchange Commission, 93; and the Renegotiation Board, 11. The latter agency deals with federal contracts.

Cablevision Loses One Station

Kaiser Broadcasting Company announced that it has agreed in principle to either sell the assets of its television station, WKBF-TV, Channel 61, Cleveland, to United Artists Broadcasting or to exchange such assets for an equity interest in WUAB-TV Channel 43, Lorain-Cleveland, which is owned by United Artists.

This action will result in Kaiser's discontinuing broadcasting on WKBF-TV, effective at the close of normal operations on April 24, 1975.

Dean Hupridge, manager of the Circleville Cablevision, was unable to report any further information other than the fact that WKBF, Channel 61 in Cleveland, was ceasing operations.

He did note that it was possible another station would be added at a later date.

"Kaiser Broadcasting has operated WKBF-TV at a loss since January, 1968," said Don B. Curran, president of Kaiser Broadcasting. "During that time the company has made every effort to make WKBF profitable, but we believe that the Cleveland market cannot support five commercial stations in the foreseeable future. While we regret having to cease operations at WKBF, this action must be taken to strengthen the financial position of Kaiser Broadcasting Company."

Curran said Kaiser Broadcasting will attempt to find work opportunities for WKBF employees at Kaiser's other television stations and its national sales organization, Kaiser Broadcasting Spot Sales, or with the Cleveland broadcasting industry.

IRS Turned Over 8,210 Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it gave the complete or partial tax returns of 8,210 citizens or corporations to other federal agencies in 1974.

IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander says the returns were disclosed under regulations allowing federal department heads to obtain the information by certifying it is required for investigative purposes.

Meade Whitaker, the agency's general counsel, said the returns were provided as a matter of routine in most cases. He said the requesting department heads usually were not required to document their reasons in any substantial form.

Whitaker and Alexander commented on the practice at a budget hearing Wednesday after Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., asked if the two officials were satisfied the confidentiality of tax returns was being safeguarded.

Alexander said such safeguards are made difficult by regulations that provide other agencies with access to the returns.

He said the problem arises from a section of the tax code that declares returns to be public record except for specified instances.

Alexander said the "thrust of the statute needs to be turned around." He said federal policy should be that the returns are confidential except for clearly defined cases in which they might be examined outside the IRS.

After the hearing, the IRS released the number of returns it had given other federal agencies last year and some of the reasons cited by the agencies requesting the information.

An IRS spokesman said 4,448 returns were given U.S. attorneys who were conducting a variety of investigations that did not involve tax litigation.

Another 3,228 went to the Justice Department for reasons that included Watergate, antitrust, and a wide range of criminal investigations.

The Commerce Department received five returns for "integrity investigations" of current or prospective employees.

The other agencies and the number of returns they obtained included the Agriculture Department, five; Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau, two; Customs Service, three; Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., 12; Federal Home Loan Bank Board, 50.

Also, the General Accounting Office, 342; the Interstate Commerce Commission, 9; Labor Department, 2; the Securities and Exchange Commission, 93; and the Renegotiation Board, 11. The latter agency deals with federal contracts.

Lawrence Heightsman is president of the Board. Mrs. John Summers is the Executive Director. Mr. Paul Diener is the vice president and Mr. Paul Roan represents Pickaway County on the board.

Vocational School Levy Is Topic For A-C Board

In the regular monthly meeting Monday, the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education set up a committee to work on the passage of the Joint Vocational School levy.

Board president Elwood Kim appointed the following members to be chairmen of committees for each of the voting precincts in the Amanda-Clearcreek School District: Maynard Miller, Amanda and Stoutsville Villages; Dan Davis, Amanda A and B precincts; Robert Foster, Clearcreek B precinct; Enos Fausnaugh, Clearcreek A precinct; Elwood Kim, Madison and Hocking Townships precincts.

LAW ENFORCEMENT—Former Pickaway County deputy sheriff Earl Kuhn instructs a class in law enforcement at the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School. Students who attend the vocational center during their junior and senior years of high school have a variety of subjects from which to choose. Their school day consists of three hours of shop in the area of their choice, one and a half hours of related classroom work and one hour of academic subjects, either history or English. Walls in the vocational center are moveable and the backs of the classrooms are open. One area of four classrooms has foldable walls which allows for seating of more than 70 persons. Paul Hydell, superintendent of the center, said this area was costly to build but serves a very useful purpose.

Kroger Company Announces New Manager In Circleville

The Kroger Company announces the transfer of a new manager to the Circleville store. Ed Shaffer has been transferred to the local store from Jackson. He has been working here since April 7. Shaffer was manager at the Jackson Kroger Store for two years and co-manager of the Portsmouth store before that.

ED SHAFFER

Originally from Newark, he began with the Kroger company when he was 16 years old. He worked part time while still in high school as a stock boy. He and his wife Harriett are the parents of two sons, Monte, 14 and Bobby, 9. Shaffer said he hoped to move his family to the Circleville area by the first of June but wanted the boys to finish the school year in Jackson.

Also moving to the local Kroger store from Jackson is Jay McGinnis who has worked as co-manager with Shaffer in that store. He will also serve as co-manager here.

Shaffer said he hoped to continue with the company's modernization of the store. Regular customers will notice the store was recently painted. The new manager said he also hoped to continue with the 24-hours-a-day service although as a manager it meant more work and responsibility for him.

Marin County Has Woman Deputy

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Reva Richmond is now riding solo as Marin County's first woman sheriff assigned to patrol.

Deputy Richmond has taken the same courses, passed the same tests, been trained in the same pistol shooting and tactics of self-defense as male deputies.

"I'm the first of a kind and I think no one knows quite what to do with me," she expects to be assigned out of the sheriff's main office in the civic center and carry out any assignment that might be given a male counterpart.

"No, I am not scared," she said. She is married to a deputy sheriff, Robert Richmond, who works out of another substation.

She was asked if he gave her patrolling tips.

"No, we hardly see each other. He works from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. I work from 4 p.m. until midnight. We don't even have the same days off."

Speed Limit Measure Wins Panel's OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House committee has given tentative approval to a bill that would make the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit permanent in Ohio, but allow speeders on Ohio's Interstate highways a 15 m.p.h. allowance before they are assessed license penalty points.

The bill would be in defiance of a federal recommendation, which urged retention of the habitual offender point system in the enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. limit.

The legislature must make Ohio's temporary law permanent by June 30 or face a cutoff of federal highway funds, a transportation department spokesman told the House Highways and Highway Safety Committee.

The state official also gave committee members a letter from the U.S. Department of Transportation, cautioning against "dual standards which imply there are greater and lesser speeding violations."

"States utilizing a 'point system' for purposes of driver control are urged to assess points for violation of the 55 m.p.h. limit in the same manner as was accepted practice under previously-posted limits," the letter said.

Chairman Arthur R. Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, sponsor of the bill, said he would retain a 15 m.p.h. allowance provided for in the temporary statute.

That means driver would not be assessed points when they are ticketed for going over 55 but under 70—the old speed limit on Ohio Interstate highways.

Bowers and other committee members said they did not want to penalize truckers and other motorists who drive for a living and could face the loss of their operators' license.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Routine activities should run without many hitches, yet there may be certain interruptions in new ventures. Don't be dismayed. With careful study, you can cope.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus favorable. Invent, improvise, build anew where it will help you to take a forward step. Your incentive and ingenuity should be keen.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over your ideas.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stellar influences indicate some indecisiveness. Counter by urging yourself into positive action. Handle each situation as it arises, evaluate each on its own merits.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Do not take a position for or against any issue until sure of your ground. Analyze glamorous sounding propositions: they could be misleading in details.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Extra care needed in financial matters, but do your own thinking about them. Advice from others could lead you off on false trails.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have mixed feelings about some matters, a sense of confusion. Take sufficient time to learn what is expected of you and how best to go about it. And DON'T worry!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Differences of opinion need not result in rifts. Get together with those concerned and, with calmness and your innate sense of humor, you can straighten out any situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Fine Jupiter influences encourage present efforts. Especially favored: financial affairs, organizational interests, satisfactory conclusions to complex business negotiations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good aspects. Occupational interests, educational pursuits and research especially favored. Some changes in the making are for the best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You now have a wonderful chance to display your ingenuity and possibly think up a new way to present an old idea which could STILL be feasible if properly worked out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking — if reasonable! But don't go out on the proverbial limb and DO avoid extremism.

Blacks Use Libraries

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)— There have been no racial incidents since Africans were allowed to mix with whites in public parks, libraries, museums, the art gallery and zoo a year ago, according to city officials.

Francois Oberholzer, chairman of the city council's management committee, said:

"We have had about two dozen complaints from whites in protest against the city's measures to give the blacks a better deal — but they represent a very small percentage of the city's white population."

Oberholzer released figures recently showing that since the "whites only" signs were removed a total of 12,984 Africans have used the city's nine reference libraries while 4,462 joined lending libraries.

What He Stole Was Lunch

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — A case of mistaken paper bags netted a thief a hamburger instead of $379, police said here.

Officers said that a dress shop employee, carrying two paper bags — one containing shop receipts, the other the hamburger — was walking to a bank when a young man wrenched the bag with the hamburger from her hand and fled in a car.

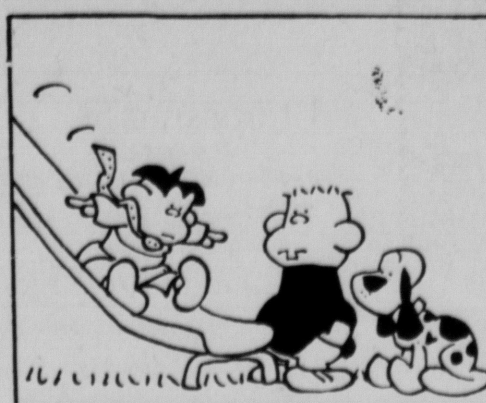

Virginia estimates the value of its tourist industry at $1 billion a year.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Routine activities should run without many hitches, yet there may be certain interruptions in new ventures. Don't be dismayed. With careful study, you can cope.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus favorable. Invent, improvise, build anew where it will help you to take a forward step. Your incentive and ingenuity should be keen.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over your ideas.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stellar influences indicate some indecisiveness. Counter by urging yourself into positive action. Handle each situation as it arises, evaluate each on its own merits.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Do not take a position for or against any issue until sure of your ground. Analyze glamorous sounding propositions: they could be misleading in details.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Extra care needed in financial matters, but do your own thinking about them. Advice from others could lead you off on false trails.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have mixed feelings about some matters, a sense of confusion. Take sufficient time to learn what is expected of you and how best to go about it. And DON'T worry!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Differences of opinion need not result in rifts. Get together with those concerned and, with calmness and your innate sense of humor, you can straighten out any situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Fine Jupiter influences encourage present efforts. Especially favored: financial affairs, organizational interests, satisfactory conclusions to complex business negotiations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good aspects. Occupational interests, educational pursuits and research especially favored. Some changes in the making are for the best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You now have a wonderful chance to display your ingenuity and possibly think up a new way to present an old idea which could STILL be feasible if properly worked out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking — if reasonable! But don't go out on the proverbial limb and DO avoid extremism.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely ambitious person, endowed with many talents through which to achieve a successful career AND the tenacity need to reach your goals. YALE COACH—Bob Giegengack, Yale's track and field coach, chats with Mrs. Patricia Rico, chairman of the AAU women's track and field committee, during a luncheon in New York. WFL Sets 10-Team Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Hemmeyer was telling some of those World Football League horror stories which have become so popular. Then he grew serious. "The biggest disaster in professional sports history," he said of the league in 1974.

It is not difficult to document that statement. There were dishonest attendance figures, bankruptcies, broken promises and Internal Revenue Service liens for starters.

The team that won the so-called World Bowl had its uniforms seized and sold as souvenirs. The team that lost it hadn't been paid in months, and the man who ran that team is under indictment in two states.

An estimated $20 million was lost. And, lo and behold, the WFL is giving it another try.

But this time, promises league president Hemmeyer, things will be different. That seems likely, since a repeat of the WFL's first season would be hard for any six suicidal persons to match.

What the WFL announced here Wednesday was a 10-team league that will play football in 1975 under financial rules never before tried in professional sport in this country.

The formula drawn up by Hemmeyer requires teams to put money in the bank before they sign any contract to spend it. It requires that 42 cents of every dollar taken in be paid out to coaches and players, most of whom will be getting one per cent of a club's revenue in lieu of a salary.

And each team must place varying percentages of its income in four bank accounts, three of which the league will have control over.

"This plan is a conservative business approach," said Hemmeyer, a 35-year-old, self-made multimillionaire who recognized quickly that whatever was tried last year had better be replaced.

There was the usual hoopla that accompanies any announcement. WFL players Calvin Hill, Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick, Paul Warfield and John Gilliam were there to sing the league's praises. The league, which once attracted 750 people to a game in a 100,000-seat stadium, even attracted Howard Cosell for the occasion.

And there was that talk about giving the local bank to Joe Willie Namath, if he will only close his career the way he began it: by making a professional football league. This league is willing to give Namath $2 million to play for three years, another $2 million over the following 20 years and halfinterest in a future WFL team, meaning the price of saving a league has skyrocketed since 1964.

There was no immediate comment from Namath. There was, however, the announcement that the WFL in 1975 will have teams in Honolulu, Anaheim, Calif.;

WFL Sets 10-Team Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Hemmets was telling some of those World Football League horror stories which have become so popular. Then he grew serious. "The biggest disaster in professional sports history," he said of the league in 1974.

It is not difficult to document that statement. There were dishonest attendance figures, bankruptcies, broken promises and Internal Revenue Service liens for starters.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chances looked "pretty good" today for passage of a measure that would let Ohioans deduct small political contributions from their state income tax liability, its sponsor said.

Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, referred to his bill that would permit individuals to deduct $5 and married couples filing jointly $10 a year for contributions to the party or candidate of their choice.

The Oberlin newspaper editor is among several state lawmakers who have advocated varying moves toward public financing of campaigns, but his bill would be the first significant step in that direction.

Both chambers held lengthy floor sessions Wednesday, highlighted by Senate passage of a bill that appropriates more than $20 million, most of it to help the financially troubled welfare department meet its obligations until the new fiscal year starts July 1.

More than $18 million is earmarked for welfare—$14.7 million of it to permit aid to dependent children and general poor relief payments to continue the last 10 weeks of the fiscal period.

Minority Republicans sought in an unsuccessful floor amendment to strip the GOP administration bill of a Democratic amendment that sets up 12 regional welfare offices around the state. The administration claims they are not needed, and would require the employment of 27 additional staff people and cost $500,000.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, the chief sponsor, said he will ask that the bill be sent to a joint conference committee to try to work out Senate-House differences.

The bill also contains a $2 million supplemental tornado disaster appropriation to go with $5 million the legislature approved last year for Xenia and other hard-hit communities.

Howver, Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, said Controlling Board review of applications indicated only $1 million extra is needed. He will ask the conference committee to make the downward adjustment, he said.

In other action, the Senate voted 24-8 to establish a board of chiropractic examiners to replace the State Medical Board as licensing agency for the chiropractic professions. Debate flared over a provision that permits them to be classified as doctors or physicians under state welfare and workmen's compensation laws. The bill retained the provision as it went to the House, however.

Approved 30-1 by the Senate was a House bill correcting an "oversight" in a new law that permits persons 21 or over to purchase liquor for those between the ages of 18 and 21. The problem came about when Ohio lowered its legal age of majority from 21 to 18 — with liquor purchases being the noted exception.

Among bills approved by the House and sent to the Senate were those that make clarifications in dog kennel registration laws, require service station owners to post bond to be forfeited if stations are abandoned, and eliminate a requirement for certain campaign finance reports to be notarized.

The House deferred action until today on measures requiring tornado drills in public schools and permitting two quarter horse racing permits in each county.

Welfare Services Measure Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill extending some welfare services to persons with family incomes of up to $11,859 was approved Wednesday by the House.

The House voted 60-32 in favor of the measure, which would bring Ohio's social services program into line with new federal laws. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The approval came despite warnings by some legislators that the bill would bring 20 per cent of Ohio's population under at least partial welfare coverage.

The provision deals with social services administered through county offices such as child care, vocational rehabilitation and counseling.

Under new federal laws, the services are available to persons whose income adjusted for family size is less than 80 per cent of the median state income.

But the law also provides for services to "potential welfare recipients," whose adjusted income is up to 115 per cent of median income, provided the families pay a fee for the services based upon their income.

The Legislative Services commission computed the 80 per cent level, not adjusted for family size, would be $8,250. That would make the 115 per cent level $11,859.

Rep. C.J. McLin, D-36 Dayton, chief sponsor of the bill, said passage would qualify Ohio to get $127 million in federal funds for the social services program.

McLin and co-sponsor Rep. David Hartley, D-60 Springfield, said the bill also would provide more accountability for the welfare department. It would require the department to adopt a formal service plan and create a permanent oversight committee.

"This will make the Ohio Department of Public Welfare accountable and responsible in a positive way in the area of social services programming," Hartley said.

The bill was protested, however, by Rep. Robert E. Metzley, R-81 Laura, who said the bill would "open an entirely new area of welfare."

"You're going to open this up," he said. "You're going to raise the percentage of welfare recipients from 10 per cent to 20 per cent, and in a couple of years it will be 30 per cent, and then 40 per cent, and then 50 per cent."

"And then your house of cards is going to fall around your neck," he said.

Legion Chief Says Group Backs Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The American Legion is and will remain committed to a strong national defense system, its national commander told Ohio's lawmakers Wednesday.

James M. Wagonseller of Lancaster said in separate speeches to the House and Senate "we have to keep our weapons systems updated" and added that the cost will continue to be high.

"But it's not so high compared to the devastating cost of unpreparedness," he said. The commander traced the history of the 2.7 million-member veteran's organization and said its main policy is to "work for those things we think are in the best interest of the United States."

He praised Ohio's legislature for returning the state's observation of Veterans' Day "to its rightful date of Nov. 11" and said 45 states now have taken similar action under the legion's urging.

Wagonseller said he is now seeking approval of legislation in Congress providing subsidies for a system of state veterans' cemeteries that would include Ohio.

"We'll probably be talking to you about that," he told the legislators.

The House adopted a formal resolution honoring the commander for his service to his country and state and for his efforts "to preserve the American heritage."

U.S. Took

many in the military, favoring American aid.

Things reeled along in this confusing way until March, 1970. Sihanouk, on tour abroad, was in Moscow when his premier, Lt. Gen. Lon Nol, ousted him in a coup. A week later came the fateful Nixon administration decision to invade against Viet Cong hideouts. This soon had Cambodia up to its national neck in the Indochina war.

In China, Sihanouk presided over GRUNK and FUNK, unlovely French acronyms for the United Royal Government and the United National Front. He got both Chinese and North Vietnamese help to mount a war against Lon Nol.

The Soviet Union cautiously sat on the fence, keeping its embassy in Phnom Penh, unwilling to move until such way the political winds might blow. From his exile home on Peking's anti-Imperialist Street, Sihanouk blasted the Russians as betrayers, and they in turn lashed him in newspaper articles. This went on for three years. Then the Soviet attitude changed abruptly. Why?

When Congress ordered an end to the bombing in Cambodia, Moscow evidently detected the knell for Lon Nol. By then Sihanouk had the support of most "nonaligned" nations for whose favor Moscow constantly contests with Peking. In October, 1973, the Soviet Embassy left Phnom Penh and thereafter Moscow recognized Sihanouk.

North Vietnam had been generous with both Chinese and Soviet arms for the Khmer Rouge and could reduce its troop presence to what was needed to keep supply lines moving smoothly.

In Phnom Penh, five years after the U.S. "incursion," the regime could claim sovereignty over less than 15 per cent of the land and a quarter of the people.

County Recipient Of Welfare Funds

Pickaway County is the recipient of $30,298.57 in the distribution $16,546,362.90 in welfare assistance money, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Part of the money covers the general relief and administration costs of the welfare operations which is derived primarily from state and partially from county revenue.

The remaining total is reimbursed to the county for administering and purchasing family and children services such as daycare, family planning and marital counseling programs.
